SENIORS TO GIVE ANNUAL PLAY

(By Herbert Dickard)

On May 15th, if the weather is good and the Almanac says it's a likely day, the senior class is going to present a play called "Green Stockings." If careful preparation and practice is any sort of a criterion of the finished product, this play will be classed as good.

To acquaint the reader with the cast, we would like to list the members of the troupe (nice word when you can't think of a synonym for cast). Notice, please, that almost every one of them is an experienced actor. To begin with, we have Miss Frances Browning. Say you will come just to see her? Well, we'll list the others so no feelings will be injured. Then there is Miss Clarissa Davis who just recently co-starred with Miss Virginia Ziegler in "The Old Maids Convention." Both of these ladies will, we assure you, do their best to make this a real show. Miss Nellie Breard and Miss Alice Daimwood complete the list of feminine characters. As for the male characters, we have the handsome John Robertson (don't be impatient girls, the tickets will be on sale soon); Colonel Dan Moore, the gentleman who wore the rompers just a few weeks ago in the College Minstrels; Marion Gilliland, who is past twenty and is still growing—if you don't believe it, notice how his head is pushing up through his hair; Walter McGee will turn in a notable performance, we are sure; B. H. Myers—it takes all kinds of people to make a world, and some of this kind even get in our plays; Martin Webb—if we are not mistaken, Martin is a bit new to the acting game, but we are expecting big things of him; last, but far from least, Prof. John Winkler—need we comment on his ability?

The play is under the able direction of Mrs. Emma Alexander, who is spending considerable time on the producing of this play.

PRESIDENT COLVERT STRESSES INTEREST FOR AN EDUCATION

In his regular chapel talk Monday morning President Colvert emphasized the fact that interest is a prime factor in securing a college education. He pointed out that all the subjects required might not be of equal interest to the individual student, but that even those which appealed to him least might be of great practical benefit ultimately. All subjects of a particular course have a direct or an indirect bearing on each other.

Mr. Colvert concluded his speech by urging that more students of the regular sessions attend summer school. Some young people have the idea that summer school work is principally for those who have failed in the regular semesters. On the contrary, many attend the summer term in order to work off laboratory requirements or other work which takes time that might be put into extra-curricular activities during the regular year.

GLEE CLUBS HAVE BARBECUE SUPPER

Members of the men and women's glee clubs enjoyed a barbecue supper Monday night at the Rhymes plantation, Alto road. The spot chosen was ideal, an artificial lake, banked by tall pine trees, being near by. The picnickers were greeted by a huge, blazing bon-fire, under the supervision of grinning darkies. The enticing odor of mutton and pork, sizzling over red-hot coals, caused a general rush in that direction, and was soon the center of attraction. A delicious repast, including barbeque, salads, pickles, and pies, was served. Afterwards, with the moon shining high overhead, and the light of the nearby fire casting flickering shadows all around, a program featuring songs and dances, accompanied by the ukelele and French harp, was given. Everybody left in high spirits, all agreeing that they had a grand time.

Chaperones for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Colvert, Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Frisbie, and Mr. Hammond.

BIOLOGY CLASS TO BE GUESTS OF GARDEN CLUB

The nature study classes, known as Biology 132, will be guests of the Monroe Garden club Friday. They will leave the college promptly at 1:30 p. m. in the large school bus, and go immediately to Mrs. Speed's home on Pine street. Here Miss Wooten, president of the Monroe Garden club, will take charge of the class. She will take them on a garden run through the beautiful gardens owned by the club members.

Mr. Harold Fink found a swarm of bees on a tree near the college building Monday. A friend of his came out from Monroe to get the swarm while the biology classes and other interested people, including Miss Null, looked on. Miss Null was interested to learn that a queen and only ONE leads the swarm, and that there are three kinds of bees—a queen, some workers and some drones.

Our club had a very distinguished speaker on its program Tuesday. Dr. C. P. Gray, father of Louise, is president-elect of the Louisiana State Medical Society for 1935.

By the regular reporter's error, a very enjoyable and social meeting was omitted from this column last week. On Wednesday, April 4, Mr. F. Leon Ware, president of the P.C.B. club entertained the program committee of the club at his home. After plans had been made for programs for the rest of the semester, Mrs. Ware served strawberry shortcake, coffee, and coca-colas to Mr. Joseph Amman, Mr. Myron Kilpatrick, Mr. F. B. Shipp, Mr. W. V. Smith, Mr. A. C. Warner, and Miss Wolfe, one of the sponsors of the club.

LIBRARY CLUB AND GUESTS HAVE PICNIC

The Library Club entertained with a picnic on Saturday, April 21. Through the courtesy of Mayor Bernstein, the picnic was held on the spacious lawn of his lovely country place on DeSiard road.

After an hour or more of boating and other pastimes, Miriam Swinebroad, chairman of the social committee, spread the picnic lunch on the tables provided by Mayor Bernstein for such purposes.

The members of the club who were present and their guests included the following:

Mrs. Colvert, Misses Marguerite Covert, Elizabeth Clark, Carolyn Walker, Cecile Smith, Margaret Chase, Miriam Swinebroad, Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Niena McDonald, Frances Jones, Evelyn Hill, Louise Wood, Avis Hammett, Ruth Albritton, Mary Doyle, Mary Helen Weaver, Gracibell Green, Miss Mary Clay, and Messrs. Julius Cahn, Charles Clay, B. H. Myers, Percy Sandel, Ivy McDonald, John Deverieux, and John Frantom.

VARSITY CLUB HAS DANCE ON APRIL 13

The Varsity club dance was held Friday, April 13, in the college gym. The superstition of the black cat night did not keep the crowd away. When the varsity special was danced, the following members and dates were noticed: John Frantom and Bernice Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy McDonald, Henry Fiorsheim and Doris Davenport, Nelson Band and Iva Herring, Jason Berry and Jane Burgess, "Doc" Devereaux and Dot Turpin. Other people present were: Sara Adams and Glenn McGowan, Anna Mae Davenport and Allen West, Blanche Lacey and Leo Ticheli, Jack Selig, Leo Montgomery, Turner Alexander, Karl Stevenson, Herbert Cooper and Sara Moffett, Willard Fisher, W. K. Olmstead, Eddie Vorhoff.

A proposal made at the University of Minnesota to allow a two-day study interval before finals is striking a responsive chord in the Arts college faculty. Dean Royal Shumway admits that the proposal "has a bit of ground to stand on," his only objection to it being that "it may look as if we were providing an opportunity for cramming." As a possible alternative William H. Bussey, assistant dean in charge of the junior college, suggests that he would like to see the examinations spread out over a longer period than six days to avoid crowding.

P. C. B. CLUB SPENDS DAY ON FIELD TRIP

A visit to four important industrial plants of the Monroe area filled the entire day last Thursday, April 19, for the P.C.B. club members.

After taking several group snapshots, the forty-five who made the trip were crowded into the big truck which was furnished by Mr. Brown for the occasion.

Carey Phillips took charge of the crowd at the Brown Paper Mill, and while conducting them through the plant, explained the process by which rough logs are changed to finished paper in six hours' time.

At the Union Oil Mill, the process was explained by which cottonseed hulls, cottonseed meal, and most important, cottonseed oil, is extracted from the plain, ordinary cottonseed.

Feeding the sightseers fell to Neville high cafeteria which, incidentally, was $10 to $12 richer for this visit.

After their arrival in Sterlington, their first hour was spent at the Louisiana Power and Light plant, where three engineers acted as guides and lecturers to show the group through the plant and explain its many workings.

Mr. Boardman, designer and superintendent of the Thermatomic Carbon company, first explained in his office the process used in his plant and then proceeded to show them the entire thing in actual operation, even down to the laboratory tests.

Three-thirty found them back at the big educational plant just outside of Monroe, where the club members were unanimous in their refusal to enter, professing a horror for the dreadful scenes in this literal sweatshop.

The Alma Mater was sung at least ten or twelve times, much to the curiosity of all the group passed on the way.

DR. C. P. GRAY MAKES TALK TO P. C. B. CLUB

Dr. C. P. Gray, president-elect of the Louisiana State Medical Society, addressed the P.C.B. assembly Tuesday morning, April 24. In his talk, "Chemistry and Its Relation to Pure Food," Dr. Gray showed that the present pure food law passed in 1906 is totally inadequate in protection necessary for foods, drugs, and cosmetics. The fact that in a year's time more than twice as much money is spent for cosmetics as for medical treatment, and that more than three times as much is spent for chewing gum as for salaries of educational instructors, proves the need of a newer and more complete food law.

As a climax for this splendid program, strawberries and ice cream with cakes decorated with one candle, in celebration of Miss Wolfe's birthday, were served, not only to club members, but also to their guests, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Misses Clay and Marshall, Louise Gray, and Dr. Albritton.

POW WOW SPONSORS POPULARITY BALLOT

Who will be the two "Hall of Fame" students from Ouachita Parish Junior College?

In today's issue of the Collegiate Digest section is an important announcement of the "Hall of Fame" contest which is being sponsored by The Pow Wow, Collegiate Digest, and the Parker Pen Company, and which offers valuable prizes and national recognition to the students voted the most outstanding men and women on the campus.

Each winner will be awarded one of the revolutionary Parker Vacumatic fountain pens and will have his picture featured in a special page in the Collegiate Digest.

The plan of the contest is simple: in an early issue of the Collegiate Digest there will be printed a ballot which all students must use in voting in the contest. The two receiving the highest number of votes will win. You must use the official ballot in voting.

Start campaigning now for your favorites!

Since the opening of Junior College, nothing has so promoted a feeling of good fellowship and school spirit as the Monday morning assemblies. The students know one another better and find real pleasure in the mutual enjoyment of their fellow students' efforts to entertain. The faculty is to be congratulated for the institution of this "most enjoyable hour of the week."

At Purdue University an extensive program for improvement in the use of the English language among upperclassmen is being taken seriously. All written work of upperclassmen, especially Juniors, is sent to a committee to be graded. The papers are read, graded "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory," returned to the respective departments, and in turn to the students. Records are kept, and where a student's work seems to indicate that he needs further instruction in composition, he is given an opportunity to enroll in a special class for additional English training.

OLD MAIDS HOLD SNAPPY SESSION

The Y. W. C. A. girls, under the directorship of Mrs. Dorothy Younse, were responsible for the delightful programs in assembly last Monday.

The program consisted of a play, "The Old Maids Convention," with the following cast:

Mirabah Lovejoy, president of the "Old Maid's Matrimonial Club," Miss Elizabeth Cudd; Amarilla Heywood, secretary, Miss Frances Browning; Priscilla Hope, treasurer, Miss Josephine Coates; Anxiety Doherty, Miss Sadye Lou Peters; Augusta Prim, Miss Sadie Ruth Buckner; Faithful Blossom, Miss Minnie Etta Rhodes; Fredora Bobkins, Miss Ruth Albritton; Rhoda Larkin, Miss Kathryn Adams; Selina Baxter, Miss Carolyn Myers; Susannah Smith, Miss Martha Culpepper; Mirunda Price, Beatrice Forrest; Mary Ann Barnes, the man-hater, Miss Clarissa Davis; Sarah Jane Springerton, Miss Kathleen Crow; Eliza Hooker, Miss Henrietta Swayze; Esther Snyder, Miss Hazel Mitchell; Marian Perkins, Miss Audrey Mae Hubbard; Asemath Baker, Miss Margaret Chase; Amanda Horn, Miss Virginia Gray; Amy Little, Miss Mary Mulhern; Sophia Potter, Miss Virginia Zeigler; Professor Pinkerton, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Moffett.

Special numbers were given by Misses Annie Mae Smith, Nantelle Mitchiner, Jo Coates, Sara Mae Adams, Dot Henry, and Achshah Belt.

The programs were designed and made by Miss Dorothy Flanagan.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT" IS SUBJECT OF CLASS DISCUSSION

The Speech class presented a very interesting program Friday, April 20. James Tisdale, captain of his side, acted as chairman.

The program last week proved so interesting that the same subject was chosen for the Friday's program, that of "Believe It or Not." Numerous thought-stirring and startling tales were told.

Mrs. Alexander read a very interesting article by Hugh Walpole entitled, "Is Life Worth While?"

As a whole, the entire program was a great success.

Mrs. Alexander's dramatics club will have charge of the program today.

SENIOR CASS MEETS

The Senior class met Thursday at activity period in the auditorium with Mr. Thomas Zeagler presiding.

The purpose of this meeting was to inform the seniors of the scholarships that are being offered to students in the various junior colleges by the University of Chicago.

The scholarships are to be awarded upon the basis of competitive examinations to be held on May 5, 1934.

Seven scholarships yielding full tuition of $300 and twenty scholarships yielding half tuition of $150, are the awards to be made to the graduates of junior colleges.

Students interested in taking this examination are urged to see Miss Null, the class sponsor.

WILLIAM CAMPBELL TO VISIT COLLEGE

Mr. William T. Campbell is scheduled to visit Monroe May 3 in his auto-giro. It is the hope of the college that he will be able to land on the campus during activity period and address the students. Mr. Campbell has visited hundreds of colleges, including the University of California, Columbia University, Harvard University, and colleges in many foreign countries. He has spoken to over 750,000 students.

Nineteen Northwestern University professors have recently completed 25 years as members of the faculty of the Evanston, Ill., institution.

Emory S. West, Jr., a University of Minnesota sophomore engineering student, has been awarded the congressional medal for bravery for his thrilling rescue from drowning of two girls in 1931.

LIFE PAYS

(By Emma Alexander)
Yes, LIFE PAYS AN ACCURATE WAGE. It pays you for WHAT you do. More vitally than that, it pays you IN WHAT you do.

To forestall disappointments you must be intensely honest with yourself. Do not EXPECT more and better than you have earned; do not expect less and poorer than you have earned.

Poise towards life is compounded of confidence and modesty. Be CONFIDENT when you remember WHO you are. Be MODEST when you remember WHO you are. The rule is "Let your living, not your tongue recommend you." Self-deceptions and pretenses do not long avail. A presence of insincerity accompanies one who tries to appear what he is not, but sincerity clothes the honest one as with a holy vestment. Your living justifies a high claim or makes a high claim ridiculous. What your living justifies, you do not have to demand. You possess by virtue of having accomplished. The otherwise great man is small when he boasts of his own achievements. Results announce themselves.

Your consciousness pervades your work, and gives it character—your character. You are recognized as clearly by your work as you are by your manner, your speech, your face. You are more broadly known by your work than by your personality; your personality is restricted, but your work is imprinted on the substance of the universe and recorded by the minds of men.

Be the model that you THINK OTHERS should be. Then you always will have a standard of endeavor and attainment. If you live right, your ability steadily will increase. Today is the fruit of your yesterdays. Tomorrow is the bud on the stalk of today. Do not hope to trade years for pleasure. That portion of eternity which you call time cannot be exchanged for baubles; time is your present concept of everlastingness, and your use of it is noted on your wage account.

The surest thing in life is that

ALMA MATER

In the sunny land of Dixie,
Under skies of blue,
Stands a school to whom the Indians
Ever will be true.

Chorus:
Ouachita, dear Alma Mater,
Homage bring we now,
Here our truest heart's devotion
To thy name we vow.

When out from the field of battle
March thy warriors brave,
May thy colors proudly gleaming
In glad victory wave.

By the path to fame and glory,
Rugged Though it be,
We will climb to heights triumphant
Still inspired by thee.

On Monday and on Wednesday
When I'm in Chemistry class,
No matter what the weather,
I always see them pass,
Miss Veal and Mrs. Penick;
They walk around and round
Each day at the fourth period
On the track they'll be found.
There sometimes is another
Who goes with them to walk,
Miss Mary Clay, of book fame,
Now, children, do not talk!
When e'er they tire of walking
They in the grandstand sit
They each take out an apple
And eat it, every bit.
To keep those girlish figures
And sweet and simple smiles,
This is the goal they keep in sight,
That's why they walk those miles.

NO. 3 CONTINUES AS UNDEFEATED

1 Comes From Behind To Win Over A Very Erratic Fielding Team

Team No. 3 continued their undefeated march for the Intramural softball title, slugging out a 11 to 9 win over the third place No. 2 team. Turner Alexander also turned in his third straight victory in the league by held No. 2 to seven hits. Several wild pitches on his part almost caused him to lose the game, but most of the time he was stingy with hits and kept them scattered. He walked seven of 2 batters.

Hodge Mason and Whitfield decided the outcome of the game in the sixth inning when they came to the bat and each connected for a homer to put their squad out in front by two runs. It looked as if the loop leaders were going to be given their first setback of the season until this big inning.

The fielding of both teams was above par in this game, as only seven errors were made by both teams and had it not been for these with men on, the score would have been much smaller.

No. 2 came in from the field for their last bat with high hopes of overcoming the two-point lead only to see their chances fade when No. 3's ball hawks gathered in three straight high flies to retire the side in order.

Myers hurled a creditable game for his team and the next time No. 2 and No. 3 meet, it probably will be another hurling duel with the team getting the most breaks coming out on the big end of the score.

Turner Alexander Holds No. 2 To Seven Hits And Aids His Victory With Homer

Coming from behind in the last half of the seventh inning to score four runs, No. 1 opened the Intramural softball league with a 19 to 15 win over the No. 2 team.

Both teams showed lack of practice in their initial tilt in the league, as thirteen errors marred the play of the first game. No. 1 made nine misplays while No. 2's players committed four.

Delbert Colvert did the heavy clouting in the game with a circuit wallop with two aboard in the third inning and came back in the 5th stanza to hit a Texas leaguer that was good for two bases. His teammate, John Frantom, also displayed nice stickwork, connecting for four singles in his five times at bat.

Nelson Bland, lead-off man for No. 2, had a perfect day at bat, with four hits in as many trips to the rubber. None of his hits were extra base knocks.

Both teams collected the same number of bingles, nineteen, but Gilliland kept No. 2's hits well scattered throughout the game except in the first inning, when they bunched hits to score four runs.

The outcome of the game was not decided until the last of the seventh when No. 1 went on their spree and in the previous innings the lead changed a most every time a team came to the plate.

TEAM NO. 3 WINS IN HIT AND RUN GAME

Score Four Runs In Last Inning To Gain Lead In First Intramural Game

The game could be called "the comedy of hits and errors." No. 3 won over No. 4, 37 to 27, in a hit and run game. Thirty errors were made during the seven innings of the game.

No. 3 collected 39 hits off Ralph Davis, No. 4 hurler, and his mates committed 19 errors behind him. Both chunkers were in for a bad day and No. 4 made 25 safe base knocks off Alexander, No. 3 pitcher.

The first two innings were when No. 4 got off to a flying start by bunching hits in each inning and scoring nine runs in the first, and coming back in the second to score ten tallies. After this, Alexander received better support from his infielders and held the No. 4 batsmen in check after these two disastrous stanzas.

Coming in from the field for their bat in the sixth, No. 3 was behing eight runs and before No. 4 could retire them, they had batted around and walloped the ball over the lot for fourteen runs to put them out in front. Not satisfied with their last time at bat, the No. 4 sluggers started on another rampage that netted them seven more runs before the third man was out, and then retired No. 4 in order on their trip to the plate.

NO. 1 LOSES TO NO. 3 IN TIGHT LOOP TILT

Teams Commit Thirty Errors In Seven Inning Game As Game Turns Into A Track Meet

Behind the brilliant pitching of Turner Alexander, who allowed the No. 1 batters only six scattered hits, No. 3 knocked No. 1 from the thousand percentage column and took an early lead in the race for the league pennant. The score was 13 to 5 for the No. 3 team.

Air-tight hurling was the outstanding feature of the game, as Marion Gilliland, although receiving credit for the loss was allowed only seven hits. Wild throws on the part of his teammates with runners on base was hardship he worked under and had it not been for the misplays by No. 1 fielders, the outcome of the game would have been different.

Alexander, besides being the pitching star of the game, did the heavy clouting of the day, knocking a homer with the bases loaded and at another time at bat, slammed out a double.

In the third, Gilliland relinquished the hurling duties to Tommy Zeagler, who held the heavy hitting No. 3 team in check except in the fifth inning, when Alexander connected for his circuit blow. No. 3 made five runs off Zeagler this inning. After issuing two straight passes, the next man hit a clean single, and then Alexander's home run cleared the bags.

This win for No. 3 put them in the lead with two games in the win column and none in the loss and dropped No. 1 into second place with a five hundred percentage.

NO. 4 LOSE TO NO. 1 IN LEAGUE BATTLE

Alexander And Gilliland Hook-Up In Tight Pitching Duel, Allowing Only Few Hits

Bunching their hits in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings to score ten runs, No. 1 defeated the erratic No. 4 team, 15 to 10 in the Intramural softball loop.

Each team collected ten hits off the opposing hurlers, but No. 4's pitcher, Ralph Davis, did not receive any support from his fielders, who committed sixteen errors behind his chunking.

George Hunter, No. 1 backstop, was the hitting star of the day, getting three bingles on four trips to the plate. He scored each time he arrived safely on base. John Frantom, although getting only one hit, a home scored four times during the game, getting on base by No. 4's errors. Smith of No. 4 also connected for a circuit blow in the game.

On their first time at bat, No. 4 tallied three runs and then were held scoreless the next two while No. 1 came to life and pushed across four runs to take the lead. Then No. 4 came to bat in the fourth to push across two and take the lead again only to see No. 1 bunch hits in their half of the inning to score four times.

In the 5th stanza Gilliland pitched air tight ball to set the No. 4's batsmen down in order and then No. 1 went to bat to score three more runs to put their team out in front by six runs.

The next inning both clubs made three runs and in the last inning No. 4 started a batting spree that netted them two runs before No. 1 could retire the determined No. 4 club.

This was the third defeat No. 4 has suffered in the loop games and each time it has been their errors that have spelled defeat for them.

Summary:
No. 4 300 203 4-10 10 16
No. 1 108 433 x-15 10 8
Batteries: No. 1, Davis and French; No. 4, Gilliland and Hunter.

PLAYERS CHOICE ALL-STAR TEAM

An ALL-OPPONENT softball team will be picked from the Intramural softball league by the players participating in the loop. The ALL-STAR team will not be picked on a popularity basis, but on merits as softball players. Players of each position are asked to send in their ballot voting for the highest calibered player they have opposed in their position. The players of each position receiving the highest vote will be on the ALL-STAR team and the players receiving the next highest vote will be given berths on the second team.

Smuggled in by submarine comes the Cuban Revolt song, "I've Got a Riot to Sing the Blues."

JUST IMAGINE—

Julius Cahn and Kitty Adams doing the adagio.
Coach Kemerer doing the hula-hula.
Virginia Zeagler with a voice like Miss Wolfe's.
Mr. C. C. Colvert with black wavy hair.
A. C. Warner weighing about two hundred pounds.
DeBlieux being U. S. senator of Louisiana.
Miss Wolfe being champion diver.
George "Cold Cream" Aubert and Sarah Mae Adams spooning.
J. N. Davis doubling for Clark Gable.
Herbert Dickard without his wise cracks.
A Dewdrop falling on you.

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES?

A complete set of tests by which you will be able to determine your "degree of nervousness" will be found on the back page of today's issue of the Collegiate Digest section of The Pow Wow.
This unique set of tests will be sent to you free if you merely fill in the coupon and mail it to the address designated in the advertisement. The attractive booklet which you will receive will provide a great deal of entertainment for you and your friends, as well as being a very complete test for yourself.

A Syracuse University professor has developed a new method of teaching foreign languages and he used a device called the "auctor" which he developed.

Oh, "Yonnie," we think your little girl friend is cute; you know, the one you took to the show the other nite.

Miss Clay, won't you please fix Dewdrop some more stuffed eggs? We'd like to know the time, place, etc.

Boys—a certain little blonde Junior wants you to know she comes to school to study and not to play around. Get it?

We don't mean to be snooping, but we saw Ralph Davis, "the breach-of-promise" man, talking sweetly to an O.P.H.S. girl. Watch out, Ralph—you'll have another suit on your hands.

Wonder why Turner Alexander goes to Texarkana.

D. Colvert and B. Lacy seem to think "Spring has come"—you know, in Spring a young man's fancy—!

Wonder why Rachel Haynes doesn't go to dances any more?

It has been rumored that one of the ERA workers is "not so hot" on the "Lone Wolfe" and vice versa. We wonder who it could be.

"Boy, Hidy!" We think Mrs. Colvert's a swell sport.

Miriam and B. H. surely like to go craw-fishing.

Do You Know That—
J. D. DeBlieux is becoming a Romeo? Ask him about his new girl. Myron Kilpatrick has been romancing with a good looking lady? Look out, Kil, we've heard that she is married.

Leonard Ware, president of our P.C.B., made a mistake in mathematics during a physics class? We guess it's an old habit. He works at a "Cash and Carry" store.

Leo Ticheli was seen talking to some women in the Caddo parish jail while on duty there? Still shooting the same old line, Tich?

If television were in use, a certain little red-headed girl would be getting El Paso about four or five times a day?

"Doc" Albritton has entered the movies? Ask the clown that took pictures of him the other day.

Lester "Pretty Boy" Carr has been going around with a sad look on his face? Brace up, Lester, old boy, she won't stay in New Orleans always.

If Wimsboro were only a five minute walk from Monroe, Clara Terzia would do all of her walking towards that direction?

Miss Wolfe went on a blind date once? Was he good looking, Miss Wolfe?

IN MEMORIAM

To the memory of those who are no longer with us, this little space is solemnly and humbly dedicated. We are unable to mention names, as the gods and the discipline committee rule otherwise. However, the once happy tribe of Ouachita has diminished till the outcome is absolutely astonishing.

Some just couldn't take it, and dropped out of the race, while others were uninterested, and quit just for instance; and then there came those horrible mid-term, six, and ten-weeks whose tolls weirdly claimed several who (quoting President Colvert), were granted the celebrated "Roads Scholarships." They are gone, martyrs to the cause of the scholarship, and of them we speak in sacred and hushed tones. Their grade lists are tucked far back in some forgotten corner of the registrar's office with the grim epitaph, "censored" labelled in large, passionate pink letters.

They are gone, but not forgotten, and for their untiring efforts, we cannot criticize. However, we can, with a tear in our throat, and a lump in our eye, bid them a fond adieu from the depths of our souls—

Wouldn't It Be Funny If

- There were no scholastic regulations?
- The greater part of our female registration bought their own cigarettes?
- Risdon Wood made the Honor Roll?
- Clarice Roan fell in love with Julius Cahn?
- Clara Terzia was fooling John Reynolds?
- John Reynolds was fooling Clara Terzia?
- Coach Kemerer was instructor of music?
- Kent Breard captured ANY woman's heart, much less that of our most beautiful co-ed?
- Turner Alexander flunked in speech? Not with that mouth.
- Miss Veal and Mr. Hammond were secretly married?
- President Colvert turned the Book Store into a saloon?
- The Pow Wow had left this column out?

Once there was a Scotchman who had dizzy spells and kept walking around in circles—they cured him by putting him in front of a subway turnstile.

Mrs. McGee—"Is that the entrance to the college?"
Taxi Driver—"Yes, ma'am."
Mrs. McGee—"Well, if that's all there is to it, I don't see why all the boys have such a hard time passing it."
