Displayed in the one-man art show in the Administration Building are works of Edward E. Schutz, assistant professor of art at Northeast.

The exhibit is arranged near the amphitheatre on the second floor of the building and will be open without cost to the public through the Christmas holidays.

The show comprises examples of various media executed during the last three years. Included are oils, watercolors, block prints, lithographs and etchings.

Many of the works were done in New Mexico, some in Galveston, and a few water colors are bayou scenes of Louisiana. All etchings and lithographs depict

Handel's "The Messiah" to Be Presented Here Sunday

The second annual production of Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" will be presented at 4 p. m. Sunday in Brown Auditorium, with Dr. Harry M. Lemert, head of the Fine Arts department, directing the performance.

Performing the orchestral score will be the Northeast State College Little Symphony. The chorus will consist of from 60-75 voices.

Outstanding soloists have been selected to do the solo roles. They are: Mrs. Eloise Anspach of Shreveport, soprano solo; Floyd Fisher, Northeast student, baritone solo, and David DeRossett, tenor solo. Announcement of the alto soloist has not been made.

"The Messiah", sponsored by Northeast State in cooperation with the churches of Monroe is a college-community tradition established last year. The last Christmas performance was considered a significant success with over 1,000 persons in attendance.

"The Messiah" was composed by Handel in 1741, was performed for the first time at a charity concert in Dublin, Ireland, in 1742. Since that time it probably has had more performances than any masterpiece in the history of music. The work was composed for a large chorus, soloists and orchestra.

The version to be performed at Northeast will be the Cooper-smith version, which is an authoritative edition edited from the original sources, Dr. Lemert said.

Editorials

Our Boy Elvis

Just about everybody has something to say about Elvis Presley. The Minnesota Daily recently took a long, editorial look at the Presley phenomena and came up with the conclusion that we may be getting excited about something that really doesn't amount to much. Said the Daily:

Another national magazine has a story this week on rock and roll singer Elvis Presley.

The controversial Presley has been enjoying a popularity boom apparently initially supported by high school students. But others have shown a curiosity about the singer's uninhibited delivery and his audience effect. And this curiosity has been prominent in keeping Presley in the limelight.

Of course the exorbitant sums Ed Sullivan and others have paid the singer for his appearances and the flood of publicity he has been getting have helped sustain the public's interest.

But aside from being interested, the public seems to be more upset over this gyrating singer than anyone since Joe McCarthy.

It has heard religious leaders condemn the "menace" of "this immoral person." It has seen them organize youth group meetings so that youth will be subject to a wholesome atmosphere. It has seen them lead prayer meetings.

It has heard high school principals forbidding that students wear Presley-type haircuts. It has seen school dance chaperones cocking inquisitive eyes to ferret out any trace of rock and roll.

And it has seen all this because some of the national press is apparently disturbed by Presley, too. Several magazines have published articles without even an attempt at impartiality. One said that Presley had brought "a new low" to popular music.

Does it not seem silly that, because a singer uses one of the oldest theatrical tricks in the business—bumps and grinds—and attracts a following composed mainly of adolescent girls, a nation's concern ought to be aroused?

If we fear the morality of youth can be dissipated quite so easily we are not putting much faith in youth—the supposed hope of the future. It seems doubtful that any relationship exists between Elvis and becoming a juvenile delinquent.

No one would assert that the singer's influence is even remotely desirable. But it does seem to be true that too often when the public gets aroused, it gets too aroused.

Coffee and Card Players

The remodeled student center is a definite improvement to the Northeast campus. But it isn't big enough to accommodate card players, general time killers, and at the same time serve faculty members and students.

Any person wishing to take a quick break for a cup of coffee has trouble finding a table and a place to sit. Due to lack of funds the tables and seating arrangements are inadequate. Yet the tables and chairs are monopolized hour after hour by card players, leaving the individual with no place to sit while drinking his coffee.

What is the answer?

The game room is supposed to be at the end of the building where the post office is located. Why not play cards there? It would not only be quiet and peaceful for the players but cause less confusion in the snack bar.

It would give more room for those who want to eat a quick snack before attending classes. The third period rush hour would be less hectic and the workers could accommodate more customers.

How about cooperating? We suggest that the student center caretakers set up tables and chairs in the game room for card players.

Students Invited To Join Beta Zeta Club

"Northeast's Beta Zeta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, a national professional English fraternity, was chartered in the spring of 1955, and since its inception has proven a source of satisfying activity to its members", said Dorothy Barringer, charter member.

"Truth, sincerity, design," is the motto of Sigma Tau Delta. In inviting students to join the organization, Sigma Tau Delta's pledge committee limits its choices to applicants above freshman standing with an English or English education major, or with a declared minor in English. Grade point ratios must meet the standards set by the national committee.

Since the fraternity functions in coordination with the Writer's Club, and as membership is on an honorary basis, Sigma Tau Delta pledges are asked to join the writer's group. Eligible students may contact any member or sponsor.

Florice Bingham is president; Imogene McDaniels, vice-president; Shirley Lord, secretary-treasurer; and Betty Walker, reporter.

Sigma Tau Delta meets the second Monday, each month in L 200 D.

Northeast Officials Attend GSC Meeting; Lions Named Champs

The Gulf State Conference's annual fall meeting was held in New Orleans Saturday with Coaches Devone Payne, Leon Manley, George Luffey and sports publicity agent Pete Finlayson representing Northeast State.

Northwestern's N. W. Nelkin presided over the meeting, which was held in the St. Charles Hotel. Foremost action by the members was to name Coach Stanley Galloway's Southeastern Lions as conference champions for the 1956 football season.

Other phases openly discussed included the eligibility of players and the date for signing athletes for the following year.

The sports publicity men from the conference's six schools (McNeese, Southeastern, Southwestern, Northwestern, Louisiana Tech) were asked by the coaches to work out a selection of an "All GSC" team in each sport. The method of election of players would combine the voting from coaches and sports writers to form only one team rather than two or three annual teams as is the present situation.

McNeese Penalized

The members penalized McNeese State by officially forfeiting games to other teams in which an ineligible Cowboy player paricipated. This action gives Northeast a season record of 8 victories and 2 defeats and places the Indians fourth in conference standings with three wins and two losses.

Also, the publicity representatives are to draw plans which would gain the Gulf States Conference recognition outside this area. These plans call for the method and cost in putting forth a conference publicity department and are to be presented at the conference's winter meeting.

Athletic Director Arnold Kilpatrick was praised by members for the splendid job he did in handling the conference's first annual cross-country track meet.

All conference representatives were guests for the LSU-Tulane football game that afternoon.

Tribe Slips Past Crusaders 85-83

Sid Bradley, who scored 24 points, paced the Indian cagers in a "come from behind" 85-83 victory over William Carey Saturday night.

The Redskins, under the tutorage of Arnold Kilpatrick and Johnny Reagan, opened their home campaign with success and ran their record to 1-1.

After trailing 34-33 at halftime the Indians fell five additional points behind the determined Crusaders shortly after the third period started. However, the home team quickly recovered and pulled even with William Carey for a nip and tuck battle throughout the final quarter.

Stan Shaneyfelt and Lloyd Crocker, both forwards, were solid performers in the Indian win and tallied 18 and 16 points respectively.

For the Crusaders, forward Angelo Mataritona netted 23 points to lead his team in scoring. Howard Moore bucketed 16.

N'East Debaters Win Six Events At Deep South Debate Tourney

Northeast's debate squad made their best showing of the season at the Deep South Debate Tournament held November 30-December 1 on the Mississippi College campus in Clinton.

Northeast won six debates and lost six, depending solely on the talents of four students entered as two teams in the senior division of the tourney.

The first team included Wayne Woods and Randall Vining who won four debates and lost two. They were the only team successful in defeating L. S. U.

The second team included Bert Borden and Jerry Lee who won two and lost four.

James W. Parkerson, debate coach, was very pleased with the results. "We feel that we made a wonderful showing against teams from colleges with more experienced intercollegiate debating than we have had," Parkerson said.

Nine other colleges and universities competed in the two-day tournament. They were: University of Alabama, Louisiana College, Northwestern State College, L. S. U., Southwestern La. Institute, Millsaps College, Mississippi State College for Women, Mississippi College, and Perkinson Jr. College.

The next event on the Northeast debate squad calendar is the Louisiana Speech Association Festival in Lafayette, December 13-15.
