Basketball Squad Workouts Underway

The Northeast State basketball team began workouts recently in the gymnasium after two weeks of earlier work on the track in sweat suits. From the 18 contenders, the squad will be narrowed down to 15 for regular Gulf States Conference play.

Five lettermen have returned to join the squad. They are: Seniors; Billy May of Monroe and John Freeman of Bismark, Mo., and Juniors; Vernon Cottrell of Dillard, Mo., and Larry Stegall of Desthee, Mo., all of whom lettered here last year. Another Senior, Sid Bradley of Bismark, lettered on the 1956-57 Northeast varsity.

The squad also includes one Senior, Mickey Kitchens from Keltys, Texas; and four more Juniors, Fred Bradley of Bismark, Ronald Doyle of Calvert, Ky., Lynn Skinner of Bernice, and Jerry Rouse of Gulfport, Miss.

The freshmen are J. B. Edmiston of Ruston, Jerry Alexander of Simsboro, Jimmy Sullivan of Winnsboro, Dane Harkins of Dubach, Robert Cook of Jonesboro, Lanny Johnson, Geo. Bryan, and William McKay, all of Monroe.

Home games of the Indians will be played in the gymnasium of the Ouachita Parish Junior High School on South Grand Street beginning at 8 p.m.

Tears Flow KA's Glow in Onion Peel

Two Northeast fraternities, Kappa Alpha, and Tau Kappa Epsilon, competed in an onion-peeling contest recently sponsored by the Paramount Theater. This contest was an advertising promotion for the movie "Onionhead" now showing at the Paramount.

KA was victorious over TKE and was awarded a prize for peeling the most onions. They were also awarded a prize for shedding the most tears in the affair.

PE MAJORS

There will be a meeting for all students majoring in Health and Physical Education Monday, October 27, at 3:30 P. M. in Brown Auditorium. All majors are urged to attend, according to Keith Amos, president of the Health and Physical Education Club.

1958 Homecoming To Be Biggest, Best In The History Of Northeast

Reports from key spots all over the campus indicate that the Northeast campus is in for its biggest and best Homecoming in its entire 29-year history. The program, covering practically all aspects of the campus, offers more for the Homecoming fan this year than ever before.

Although the festivities won't officially begin until next Thursday, everyone at Northeast has already begun preparing for the countless parade floats, decorations, and special events that will

OFFICIAL START

To officially kick off the Homecoming celebrations, a king-size weiner roast is scheduled Thursday evening at 5:15 on the parade grounds. It will be followed by a giant bonfire and pep rally at 5:45 P. M. "These events are traditionally held on Friday night preceding the game on Saturday," said Thomas McCann, Co-Chairman of the Homecoming program this year. "We decided to have them on Thursday night this year so everyone will be free to work on floats, decorations, etc. Friday night."

PARADE

According to Homecoming officials, Saturday will be the day to watch. The annual parade through the streets of the Twin Cities is scheduled for 10:30 that morning. The parade will begin at the new bridge in Monroe and will proceed across the river, to West Monroe, through the city to the old bridge, back across the river, and straight down DeSiard Street through Monroe. The tradition-decked freshmen, followed by a gala procession of floats, cars, and other parade regalia, will then proceed to the parade grounds back on the campus.

AWARDS

Presentations of awards for the best floats, cars, and other entries will be held on the parade grounds at about 11:45 a.m. At this time, awards will be presented also to the best home, campus, or building decoration. The Homecoming committee originally planned to award higher cash prizes than before, but the Student Council vetoed this plan. The cash awards this year will therefore be the same as last year. First prize in the float division will be $25, second place will receive $15, and third will get $10. Only one prize will be given in the car division: $5 to the first place winner. For the best campus decoration, first prize will be $15, second place $10, and third place $5.

OPEN HOUSE

A college-wide open house is scheduled for Saturday evening from 4 to 6. All campus buildings, including the dormitories and the Student Center, will be open to campus visitors. Hosts for the occasion will be Dean Margaret Newman, Dean Ernest Holloway, and Prof. Ed Whatley.

Kickoff time will be 8 P. M. for the Indians' encounter with the Demons in Northeast's Homecoming game. President George T. Walker, will crown the Homecoming Queen in pre-game ceremonies. The queen, nominated by the football team and elected by the student body, was scheduled to be announced earlier this week. A Maid of Honor was also elected at the same time.

DANCE

Topping off the Homecoming celebration will be a dance in the Student Center for alumni, students, and parents. Officials have announced that no one will be allowed in the dance without a coat and tie. Reports indicate that more high school students have attended the dance in the past than college students. "Because these school students cause the dance to become so

Busses Chartered For Game Tomorrow

Special busses have been chartered for the Northeast - Southeastern game Saturday at Hammond. According to James Mock, Student Council Vice-President in charge of the transportation, one bus was filled early in the week, and another was started. "We'll continue selling tickets and will charter as many busses as necessary," Mock said.

The tickets are $6.50 for the 450 mile round trip to the game. The busses are scheduled to leave at 1 o'clock Saturday and will probably arrive in Hammond about 6 o'clock. "We haven't set any definite time to leave," commented Lemmie Hightower, Student Council President. "The group will decide when it wants to return after we get to the game."

crowded, we request that this year's dance be limited only to Northeast students, alumni, parents, and instructors," officials report. Music for the dance will be provided by Wilmer "Slick" Lawson's Redmen.

A WONDERFUL WORLD

The college student of today lives in a world where books are more readily available than at any previous time in the history of the world. I hope you appreciate this opportunity which is yours. Before the invention of the printing press in the fifteen century, there were very few books in existence and those were the property of the church, the Kings and Queens or the extremely wealthy people. When Gutenberg invented the printing press he started us on the road where it is possible for everyone to own books and necessary for all to learn to read. The book industry today publishes thousands of new titles each year and thousands of copies of many of the titles.

In the United States a unique institution, the public library, has developed in the past hundred years. It is unique for in no other part of the world can all of the people in a community borrow books free of charge merely by presenting a library card. In Louisiana the public library movement started late and only your generation has grown up with libraries, both public and school, as an accepted part of everyday life. The treasures of literature, the words of great men and women of all ages are waiting for you between the pages of the books on the shelves of your libraries. If you make friends in the world of books, you will never be lonely. If you do nothing else in college but develop the reading habit, a love of books, and the knowledge of how to use a library, you have accomplished much, for your education will continue as long as you live, if you live in close touch with the wonderful world of books.

Ouachita Parish Public Library

PROGRESSIVE EDUCATION

The modern concept of education stresses "learning by doing." As a result of this popular notion, today's schools are filled with classes ranging all the way from making clay pots to knitting earmuffs, and all of these classes stress "learning by doing."

There is no doubt that this concept of learning is good. The trouble comes in, though, when, as today, all these miscellaneous classes overshadow the basic, tried and proven classes such as history, math, English, science, etc. Anyone can finger-paint simply by picking up the right tools and smearing-away. But there are just not any tools he can pick up and apply to learn adverbs, historic speeches, mathematical equations, etc. That is, there are no tools to use except his brain.

These basic classes, then, are most important because they force a person to use his brain, his power of reasoning, his gift of thought. They exercise his mind, not his fingers. They prepare him to lead with wisdom, not follow in blindness. And, most of all, they teach him to prepare for a decent, human life by learning early to think for himself.

I have seen apes finger-paint. I have seen squirrels plant acorns and grow trees. The stoneage man sat in his cave and did some of the exact same things that many grown students today sit in "class" to "learn". This is most certainly not progress, and progress is the very essence of education.

Today's people should learn to think intelligently and live decently in man's world. They cannot sit in their ceramic studio making clay pots and watching the rest of the world go by, or there would soon be no world worth watching.

Tee Pee Tee Hees

That advanced Zoology class over in the science department has really been productive, according to these reports: One student crossed a sponge with an Irish potato. What happened? "Well, the resulting potatoes didn't taste so good, but they'd sure hold a lot of gravy." Another future mad scientist tried crossing animals — a parrot with a lion. One little parrot resulted. "He never says much, but when he does talk, boy, you'd better listen."

We can't afford to leave out the engineering students any longer. One came by the other day (a freshman, no doubt) who thought a logarithm was a lumber song.

Here's our favorite this week: Having been married 20 years, the couple decided to celebrate by taking a trip. While talking over their plans one evening, the husband now and then glanced into the next room where a little old lady sat knitting. "The only thing," the husband said in a hushed voice, "is that for once I'd like to be by ourselves. I'd like to take this trip without your mother." "MY mother!" the wife exclaimed. "I thought she was YOUR mother!"

Let's end this little session with a bit of advice for all students writing term papers: Remember — to borrow from one source is plagiarism. But to borrow from many sources — that's research.

Found — The Lost and Found

We've found the "lost and found!" Yes, unknown to many a Northeast member, our campus has a real, campus-wide "lost and found" department. The trouble is, most people here obviously have never heard of such a thing, as evidenced by the countless items that have waited in vain the last five or six years for their luckless owners.

Mrs. Gladys King, the switchboard operator in charge of the department, says that a great many of the items were turned in as many as eight years ago when the switchboard was in Brown Hall. "I can't help but wonder," she says; "Many of these items are worth a great deal, yet the owners have not, in most cases, bothered to try locating them."

Mrs. King is right. The situation is indeed an undesirable one. Without further ado, then, we list all the interesting, odd, expensive, trivial, valuable, worthless, and varied things that we found in the "lost and found." Keep in mind that each of these items are waiting patiently for an owner. Are you the one?

A cigarette lighter, 3 odd earrings, 2 mechanical pencils, lipstick (perilous purple), 4 fountain pens, 1 Benrus watch, 1 military ID bracelet, 1 black scarf, 1 black belt (slightly frayed), 1 gold jewelled bracelet, 2 more pens, pair of glasses, 1 purse with a Canadian nickle in it, pair of shades, 13 keys, 1 red baseball cap, 1 school sweater with CCHS on the front, 1 purple umbrella, 1 silk headscarf, another pen, 1 glass jar, another head scarf, 1 blue raincoat, 1 tin pieplate, 1 large black purse, 1 green coffee can filled with wax paper, 1 used Embryology manual, 1 polka dot scarf, 1 blue jewelled purse, 2 jars of petroleum jelly in a Frey's Pharmacy package, another pen, another pair of shades, 1 compact with a cracked mirror, 1 rain hood, another scarf, 2 1956 telephone directories, 2 large copper screws, another purse, 1 bracelet with letters, GEORGIA TUCKER, 3 more keys, a green billfold, another lipstick (bewitching red), 9 more keys, another pen, 1 heavy metal award disc, another pair of glasses, 1 Embryology text, 1 white glove, 1 brown purse with rosary beads, 7 more keys, 1 class pin from Bolton High, another pen, 3 more odd earrings, 1 English workbook, one brown suede man's coat, 1 complete metal filing system, another raincoat, another glass jar (tin-foil-covered), 2 more odd earrings, another brown purse, 2 more odd earrings, another key, 1 eye-glass case, another raincoat (with matching hood), another scarf, pair of brown gloves, 1 Economics text, a man's solid leather coat, another rainhood, 8 more keys, 4 more pens, another scarf, and an application for the title to a 1950 Studebaker.

Lost

A pair of costly glasses have been reported lost by Kenneth Page, a Northeast State freshman. The glasses are believed to have been lost somewhere on the campus. They are in a grey case and have black and silver rims.

If found, leave at the Pow Wow office, the switchboard, or call Page at FA 3-9361.

Cadets Select Sponsors For Companies, Platoons

Sponsors have been chosen for this year by the Northeast State R. O. T. C. unit. A "Little Colonel" company sponsors, and platoon sponsors were elected.

Barbara Elliott of Monroe will serve as "Little Colonel" this year. She will hold the same rank as the battle group commander. The company sponsors will hold the rank of captain.

The sponsors of companies and platoons include the following:

Company A, Sandy Edwards. Platoon sponsors, Sharon Thom-isee, Faye Parker, and Lois Halley.

Company B, Mary Louise Danna. Platoon sponsors, Jame Rogers, Shirley Crow, Lillian Price, and Ruby Faye Cloyd.

Company C, Bobby June Moore. Platoon sponsors Karen Strozier, Pat King, and Brenda

About Holidays

With rift rumors about extra holidays circulating the campus, Northeast students are reminded that they already have a great deal to celebrate this week. Let's read the following list and count our blessings(!?)

This week marks National Thrift Week, National Flower Week, United Nations Week, Cleaner Air Week, National Bible Week, National Donut Week, and National Macaroni Week. There now—doesn't all that help?

Gamble.

Company D, "Smuggie" Burnett. Platoon sponsors, Margaret Varnado, Peggy Pierce, and Delores Kenny.

Band sponsor will be Phyllis McVay, and Betty Thompson will sponsor Pershing Rifles.

Student Speaks In Harrisonburg

Olga Kokinos, a foreign student here at Northeast State, spoke recently at the Harrisonburg Rotary Club meeting. Olga is an engineering major from Athens, Greece. As a featured guest at the meeting, she spoke on native customs of her home land. Following her speech, Olga answered questions of the Rotary club members during a short discussion period.

A special ladies' night was held for the event so that the Rotary Anns could also hear Olga. Three other Northeast students, Jean Williams, Lou Sheppard, and Jack Williams, accompanied Olga to the Harrisonburg meeting.

HUMOR EDITOR NAMED

Laverne Greer, a Northeast senior in math education, has been named humor editor for the POW WOW.

It will be Laverne's duty to handle the weekly cartoon, the Tee Pee Tee Hees column, as well as other campus humor items.

She is presently doing her student teaching in West Monroe. When informed of her appointment, Laverne's only comment was "What-me worry?"

BIG BANNER BUILT

"Keep Rowan's Indians Rolling" is the new Northeast motto, and is featured on the big banner now stretched in front of the Student Center. The banner will have listed on it all games on the schedule for this year, and the scores of Indian Games as they are played.

The banner is part of the plan by the cheerleaders and the Student Council to build up school spirit on the campus.

Indians Scalp Cowboys; Prepare to Mangle Lions

The Indians, picked for the cellar in pre-season calculations of the G. S. C. race, will knock noggins with a tough Southeastern team tomorrow night at Strawberry Stadium in Hammond.

Coach Jack C. Rowan's Redskins are unbeaten in 5 successive starts and lead the G. S. C. in the win column. They are among 50 unbeaten teams in the nation with 126 points against 46 for opposition for a 5th place in five games played.

Bowing to the Lions (26-6) last season in a fumble-ridden game, the Indians will don their war paint and put its smooth clicking offense in high gear in seeking revenge.

The Lions key men in the line are at tackle; Luther Fortenberry and Robert Gros who are both aggressive on defense and offense. In the backfield a pair of hard running halfbacks are Junior College All-American C. J. Alexander and Bob Dugas, who returned a punt 99 yards against Florence State last week-end.

Possessing good depth and speed in alternate backfields the Lions have a hard runner in fullback James Hanley and a top-notch quarterback, Larry Topham, who came to the Lions from Tulane.

The well-conditioned Indians will be looking for their first win against the Lions in 7 years.

The tilt marks the 2nd of this nature. Last weekend, the Indians were winless against McNeese.

The rugged Redskins, however, will try to repeat the winning performance of last week tomorrow night. This game should provide quite an array of talent for football fans.

N. E. Students Become Pro's

Three Northeast students have signed contracts to play professional baseball next season.

They are: Bill Hardy, who signed with a farm club of the Boston Red Sox; Art "Red" Swanson, who signed a bonus contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates; and Wayne Causey, who signed with the Baltimore Orioles.

All three are veteran baseball players, but are relatively newcomers in the pro-class. They will report to their respective teams for spring training.

Homecoming Notice

All persons or organizations who have already registered a float or car in the homecoming parade must again report back to Bobby Joe Oden in the Student Center for further instructions. Anyone failing to report this second time will probably have little chance of entering the parade, according to officials.

Oden has explained that each entry must be given the number of order that it will appear in during the parade. The deadline for this second registration is next Thursday, October 30.

Only four floats, TKE, Writers Club, Demeter, and Alpha Omicron Pi, have been entered and three cars, Pynees Club, and Student N.E.A.

Train Facts

Over three hundred students from Northeast State College participated in the train caravan to attend the Northeast - McNeese football game Saturday night in Lake Charles, according to officials at the Missouri Pacific train depot.

Depot officials reported that a block of 352 tickets had been issued for the trip and that at least 300 had been used. The exact number was undetermined late Saturday night. The 300 tickets included free tickets for the band and pep squad.

Faculty Members Renew LTA Unit; Elect Officers

The Northeast State College faculty met last week and reactivated its unit of the Louisiana Teachers Association with L. E. Price, Head of the Agriculture and Home Economics, as president.

Other officers elected were Dr. William J. Christmas, vice president; Miss Hazel Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; and Edward C. Whatley, State Committee representative.

The unit organization is for the purpose of keeping local faculty members informed about the general activities of the L.T.A., as well as to afford opportunity for each member to have active participation in those areas of L.T.A. activities of interest to them.

BSU STUDENTS ATTEND MEET

Three Northeast students, who attended the State Baptist Student Union Convention at Highland Baptist Church, Shreveport, Louisiana, on October 10, 11, and 12, were selected to serve on committees in the future.

They were Mary Waller and Truman Potts, who will serve on the time and place committee of the next convention and Eddie Bobo, who will serve on the resolution committee.

Approximately 35 students from Northeast attended the convention.

Truman Potts, Darrel Simmons, John LaPrarie, Dick Trimble, Vernon Guy, Eddie Bobo, Ray Goldman, and Larry Tilly were ushers at the Saturday morning program.

Miss Nelwyn Cook, a junior in elementary education, reported to the convention about summer missionary work in California.

The overall theme was, "Discipline for Today's Demand". Reports of student activities were discussed along with seminars on student problems. These seminars were directed by outstanding Christian leaders throughout the state.

Speech Dept. Plans Play

The speech department is beginning plans for its production of the play, "The Silver Cord". Parts were assigned in the play last week by George Brian, speech instructor.

Students acting in the play include: Gerry Kenny, who has the starring role as "Mrs. Phelps;" Bill Norris, who has the leading male role as "David Phelps;" Norman Jones, playing "Robert;" Linda Garrett as "Christina;" and Mickey Burford as "Hester". The small part of a maid will be cast later. Practice began last week on the play.

"The Silver Cord" is the first major production of the year by the speech department. The play, which was on Broadway several years ago, has since become a classic because so many colleges have produced it. Another major production is slated for March.

According to Brian, the play is scheduled for appearance in the latter part of November. It will be presented in Brown Hall Auditorium and will be open to the public.
