Editing a newspaper is not an easy job. Writing the articles and features are only the initial steps in the publishing of the Pow Wow. The headlines and story heads must be written, and each article must be placed before the paper can be made-up. This issue of the Pow Wow has been edited by Brice Burroughs and Scherck Bogen. If you like it, give them the credit.

It looks to the Sentinel like Mr. Hammond is trying to chisel in on Dean Colvert. Our able prof of economics, history, and sociology acted in the capacity of a pinch-hitter, making the Dean's tentative talk at Epps High School.

Speaking of sports, I believe that Mr. Hammond knows more about the different fields of athletic endeavor than any student or instructor in the college. "Honest Jim" knows a good bit, too.

Savage promises plenty of surprises in the '36 Chacahoula, which will be off the press some time in May. From general observation and advance information, I agree with Walter of the grounds that the Chacahoula will be the most unique yearbook in the history of Northeast Center.

Dean Colvert should be congratulated in the neat bit of work he accomplished in constructing the new tennis courts. Nearly all of the students like to play the game, and, what is more, it is a wise investment as it has its advertising possibilities.

Philip Kulcke, who fought so hard for the hand of Mary Alpha Brown, is biting the dust now. It looks like Malcolm has nosed Pheclup out. Don't take it too hard, my boy, the worst is yet to come.

Chapman, Reed, and I were discussing baldness in the press room the other day. I admitted that my hair was falling out, and gave the old "hereditary" alibi. Reed said he'd never be bald, but Chapman melancholically admitted that he wouldn't have a hair on his head when he was thirty. "Inherited?" asked Luther. "No," said Eugene, lugubriously, "so I guess I'll start the 'bald' rolling."

"Bully" White, who wants to go back to Hornbeak, has found a new flame in Marie Campbell. What's the matter with Eslee? Or is the Bull just Bulling again?

Lea Thompson, frequent patron of Ladart's Hangout, has the eccentric hobby of collecting buttons. How about the noses of Earlene Dryer and "Fluff"?

UNIQUE SHOW PRESENTED BY GLEE CLUBS

SONGS AND READINGS FEATURE VARIETY PROGRAM

On Friday evening, April 17, the Men and Women's Glee Clubs, under the direction of Mr. Roger C. Frisbie, gave a successful concert in the Northeast Center auditorium. The purpose of this program was to raise funds to aid the sending of the clubs to the Kiwanis International Convention which will be held in Washington, D. C., in June.

The Men's Glee Club opened the program with "Go, Lovely Flower" and "The Hunting Song." This was followed by "Stars in the Velvety Sky," a trumpet solo by Billy Regan. Other instrumental solos were Kreisler's immortal "Liebesfreud," played by Tommy Downs, saxophonist; and "Etude" by Miss Florence Zeigler, pianist. Miss Zeigler's number was received with unusually keen appreciation and called for an encore.

Additional variety to the program was provided by an excellent reading, "Rest Cure." Miss Lois Smith's interpretation won plaudits of the audience and as an encore she gave a humorous anecdote.

Vocal solos were given by Elton Brazzeal and Miss Charlotte Davis, instructor of voice at Northeast Center. Mr. Brazzeal, a basso profundo, sang "The Big Bass Viol." Miss Davis sang "Joy."

The Northeast Center male quartette, composed of M. D. Swayze, Garland Shell, Frank Mullen, and Elton Brazzeal, sang "Let The Rest of the World Go By." The quartette is expected to be one of the highlights of the Washington performance.

Dean C. C. Colvert spoke briefly of the importance of the trip as an advertising medium for Louisiana. He urged the audience to give his hearty support in every possible way in making the college a permanent part of the Louisiana State University.

French Club Studies Operas

In the Cercle Francais meeting which was held Thursday, the club reviewed several French operas. The first opera was "Rigoletto," which was taken from Victor Hugo's play, "Le Rio S'Amuse." Miss Vivian Fluit gave the discussion. Miss Mary Parks followed this by a splendid discussion of the opera, "Faust," for which the French musician, Gounod, wrote the music. A victrola record of the duet, "O'Merveille," sung by Enrico Caruso and Marcel Journet was played to illustrate a song from this opera.

Then the opera, "Carmen," based on Merimee's novel of the same name, was discussed by Miss Ruth Hugen. This was illustrated by the victrola record, "Habanera," sung by Emma Calve. In conclusion the club practiced songs which they are to sing from broadcast Thursday.

FINISHES RED LETTER DAY IN MONROE

CROWNING OF THE MAY QUEEN WILL CLIMAX EVENING

Word has been received from the office that Friday, May 1, has been selected as the annual College Night. On this night, many of the seniors of the high school of Northeast Louisiana will attend a program to be given in the Center Theatre. Over one thousand invitations have been sent out, and an extremely large gathering is expected. All students of the Center are also cordially invited to attend.

The program for the evening will be diversified and most entertaining. The coronation of the May Queen will be the high spot. It is planned that the Queen will be crowned by Governor James A. Noe. Besides college talent, other schools will be represented on the program. Neville High School of Monroe, will present a group of tumblers; the Ouachita Parish High will have dancers on the program. The three first place quartette winners of the recent Ruston rally will render numbers, as will the declamation winner.

The complete program is as follows:

Welcome Address—Dean C. C. Colvert of Northeast Center.

Center Glee Clubs—Under the direction of Mr. Roger Frisbie.

Dramatic Skit—Directed by Miss Grace Ingledue, head of the Speech Department.

Center Orchestra—Conducted by Mr. Lowery Jefferson.

Athletic Dramatization—Various athletes of Northeast Center. Rally winners:

Girls' Quartette (Ruston High School).

Boys' Quartette (Ouachita Parish High School).

Mixed Quartette (Ouachita Parish High School).

Declamation Address (Ouachita Parish High School)—Chester Decuir.

Tumblers—Neville Boys' Gym Class under the direction of Coach Percy Brown.

Dancers (Ouachita Parish High School)—Lorene Petty and Mary Turk.

MR. MEDICINE MAN

(By Emmett Chisum)

In a small circular wigwam an Indian lies upon a cane mat groaning with pain. Multitudes of flies and mosquitoes infest the dirty place. The body of the Indian is covered with blood sucking mosquitoes. He tries vainly to knock the insects off his naked body. A burning fever parches his throat and he cries weakly for water. A youth heeds his cry and comes with a gourd of water. The Indian sips a little and then pours the rest of it over his feverish body.

Two Indians enter the wigwam; one of them is a very tall and dignified man who wears a dark clay mask upon his face; his body is clothed in a buffalo skin. He carries several small clay pots. The vessels are of a highly decorative nature. His companion carries a small hand-woven cloth bag. The masked Indian, who is the Medicine Man, stares into the glassy eyes of the sick Indian.

The Medicine Man throws a violent fit as he dances, foaming at the mouth, about the wigwam.

MISS WOLFE AND M. HOLT BACK FROM K.C.

EDUCATOR AND ASSISTANT REPRESENT CENTER AT KANSAS CITY

Miss Kathryn Wolfe, with her assistant, Manard Holt, returned to her class Monday from the ninety-first annual convention of the American Chemical Society in Kansas City, Missouri, April 14-18. The meetings were held in the new municipal auditorium. Breakfasts, luncheons, and banquets added to the entertainment.

At the enrollment favors were given to everyone. These were a copy of the last edition of the Journal of Chemical Education and pins bearing the A.C.S. insignia for members, and to the non-members pins with the insignia and the word "Visitors" stamped on them.

Each day the convention was divided into ten different sections. The sections were: rubber chemistry, colloidal chemistry, physical and inorganic chemistry, petroleum, analytical chemistry, chemistry of meat, sanitary water, and micro chemistry. At each meeting of these groups noted people conducted the classes.

The most interesting time, states Miss Wolfe, was on Wednesday night at a series of lectures on Pyrex Glass. These lectures were given by two members of the firm who illustrated their talks with demonstrations, slides, and moving pictures on glass making and its use. These shows gave views of entire homes made out of glass and sections of Radio City of New York City, showing friezes of man and horses made out of glass as large as ten feet across.

The "Magic Wand" was also demonstrated by Mr. Hostetta. It was a glass wand lighted inside electrically. By rubbing his hand up or down, he could put the light off and on.

One symposium was devoted entirely to heavy hydrogen or deuterium whose symbol is D. At these meetings very lively discussions took place because of the number of Englishmen that were

POPULAR SOPHOMORE CO-ED WILL TAKE IN FESTIVAL CONCLUDING MAY DAY

OPENING OF BRIDGE SLATED NEXT FRIDAY

NORTHEAST CENTER STUDENTS WILL WITNESS CEREMONIES

Dean Colvert announced that students of Northeast Center will be able to witness the ceremonies which mark the formal opening of the P. M. Atkins Bridge. Classes will meet as usual next Friday morning, but they will probably be discontinued at or before the end of the first period. Afternoon classes will meet as usual, Dean Colvert said.

The hour fixed for the formal ceremonies at the bridge is 10:30 a.m. Governor James A. Noe will be the principal speaker.

One of the important features of the celebration will be the appearance of the famous L.S.U. band, which will parade throughout the city to the West Monroe plaza and give a program.

Cox Resigns; Davis Replaces

J. W. Cox, superintendent of grounds and building at Northeast Center since the institution's initiation in 1931, left the first of April to accept a position in the Rodessa oil fields. Mr. Jim Davis, a capable, all-round mechanic and utility man, has been appointed his successor.

Mr. Cox's departure was keenly regretted by the student body of Northeast Center for he was known to all as a good comrade and as a ready and willing helper in all activities. His jovial manner and cheerful smile was a decided asset to Northeast Center. He had the school's interests at heart, and we wish to take this opportunity to state that we hope Mr. Cox will prove very successful in his new work.

Mr. Davis, the new superintendent, is a native of Alabama but has been located in Monroe for the past two years. He has already become well acquainted in this locality. Davis will reside on the campus to facilitate the use of the building. We are looking forward to Mr. Davis's stay at N.C. and extend to him a hearty welcome.

B.S.U. Installs New Officers

At the last regular meeting of the B.S.U. the officers for the coming year were elected. Those chosen were: president, Rosea Lee Smith; first vice president, Opal Davis; second vice president, Florence Rennie; and corresponding secretary, Myrtle Dietrich.

Dean Attends State Convention

Dean C. C. Colvert attended the state convention of the P.T.A. held at Lafayette on April 13-15. As chairman of the organization's department of education, he gave a very interesting and practical talk in which he stressed the value of visual education in the schools.

He went from there to Baton Rouge for a series of conferences at the Louisiana State University.

Willine Boxley Maid Of Honor; Pulls Large Vote

OTHER FOUR GIRLS WILL CONSTITUTE QUEEN'S COURT

The student body of Northeast Center elected Maurice Hart, of West Monroe, La., Queen of the May Day carnival. The number of votes Miss Hart polled was not divulged.

Miss Hart is very popular with the students of the university, and her election is due to her pleasing personality and winning smile.

The Queen may be crowned by His Excellency, James A. Noe, governor of Louisiana. Governor Noe has adopted Northeast Center as his "alma mater," and has always been willing to take part in the Center's extra-curricular activities.

Willine Boxley, another popular co-ed, received the second largest number of votes, and will serve as the Queen's Maid of Honor.

The four girls who were elected to serve in the Queen's court are Kate Penuell, Maude S. Gill, Carrie Jo Hill, and Marjorie Chambers.

The election culminated a straw vote taken in the auditorium last Tuesday, in which the six girls were nominated as candidates.

B.S.U. Delegates Attend Retreat

The State B.S.U. Retreat which convened at Louisiana College April 3-4, was attended by several delegates from Northeast Center. Those who represented the college there were Avonia Gerald, Oscar Austin, and Florence Rennie.

William Hall Preston, south-wide student worker, and Rev. Kearnie Keegan, state S.B.U. secretary, were among the noted speakers present. The duties of the various officers was the theme that was stressed mostly at the conferences.

Sophs To Get Diplomas May 26

Members of the graduating class of Northeast Center will receive their diplomas at the annual commencement program which will be held in the Northeast Center auditorium Tuesday, May 26. Approximately seventy-five sophomores will be given diplomas by Dean C. C. Colvert, Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of the Louisiana State University will be the speaker for the evening.

Dean Colvert has not announced the hour or speaker for the baccalaureate which will be on Sunday, May 24.

The members of the graduating class are also planning to have a dance after the commencement exercises. This dance will be only for sophomores and their escorts and it is hoped that this will become one of the main annual events of the college. Other activities which will bring the upper classmen together before graduation will be the annual picnic and college night.

WATCH YOUR STEP?

Did you have a happy Easter? Now that's fine. Did you do almost everything that you wanted to do? You did! That's nice. Did you study or review some? What! Of course you were going to, but Jane or Jack called up and you forgot all about those lessons. That's usually the way it is all the time.

Do you realize that there are only five more weeks of school? What are you going to do about it? Are you going to play around in that time as you did the rest of theyear or are you going to really study?

And did you know that people are wanting you to pass in your exams? First, there are your parents who are most interested in you, who are giving you the chance to go to school. Then there are your professors who strive to make each of their lectures plain to you. Then again there is the dean, who, with all his regular business, stops work long enough to have some tennis courts built for you to relax yourself. Now do you think it would be fair to all these people to fail them? Do you think it would be fair to yourself? So get in there and study hard. Make every moment count. Then when you walk out of this building for the last time with a diploma in your hand, you can say with pride, "I did it!"

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS

Success! Realized by some, dreamed of by others. A word that has no other than a pleasant meaning. The desire to succeed is what has given us the inventions and accomplishments of today. How can success be attained?

There is only one answer to that question. The power to keep on trying. It cannot be achieved by day dreaming; it must be accomplished by actual effort. A doctor must serve his internship before he can practice medicine; a lawyer must be a law-clerk; a great scientist must be, at some time during the course of his career, a laboratory assistant.

A newspaper reporter must face and survive the "knocks" before he can become a successful journalist. He cannot sit back and let someone else do his work. An author or poet should not be discouraged by a few rejection slips. Some of the best known writers of today can cover their walls with rejection slips received before they sold their first story.

Sometimes, scientists spend twenty or thirty years of their lives in the engineering of one experiment. If they fail to attain their end, to complete the experiment, have they been defeated? No. Because they leave behind valuable information which will eventually lead up to the success of that particular experiment.

Nothing succeeds like success. So take this to heart. Don't let a textbook get you down. The printed matter between the pages of a textbook is not so important that it should make you admit defeat. Keep trying.

LEARN TO RESPECT THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS

The greatest problem of the majority of the college youths of today is living harmoniously with his classmates. To live congenially with his fellow-man a person must learn to respect the rights and property of others. Taking our school as a whole, the students are able to do this, but occasionally we find several who refuse to respect the property of their classmates.

For deliberately taking something that does not belong to you there is no excuse. From time immemorial that has been a law of man and God. Lately several students have made complaints about things being taken from their lockers. Such action should not be allowed to continue. Something should be done to prevent it.

At L.S.U. there is an organization called the Honor Court. The actions of this court are not publically known, nor are the names of the offending students and their actions published in any way except to give proper notice in case of expulsion or suspension. Students guilty of certain "crimes" are compelled to appear before this body. Much good has been accomplished by this court.

We hope it will not be necessary to organize such a court at our school. We hope that our students will cease to take things that do not belong to them without being made to do so.

Students From Northeast Center Entertained By Gov. and Mrs. Noe

PRIVILEGED TO SEE "MADAME BUTTERFLY"

The Germany-Noe class of the First Methodist Church here in Monroe, was invited by the Governor and Mrs. Noe to spend the past week-end in Baton Rouge. The class, of course accepted, and on Saturday morning April 19, eleven cars left from the church. The line of cars was lead by Mrs. Cotton and Miss Elizabeth Langford, both guests of the party, and the line was ended by Mr. Germany, the teacher of the class.

About four o'clock that afternoon the procession drew up in front of the Governor's Mansion. The whole class, consisting of about fifty people, was invited in the mansion to relax a bit and to receive directions as to where to go for the night. Since the class was so large, the mansion could not accommodate all of them, and Mrs. Noe had made arrangements for part of her guests to spend the night in the dormitories of our older sister, L.S.U.

At six o'clock the class again met at the Mansion where they were presented with a most delightful buffet supper. Mrs. Noe proved to be a charming and gracious hostess. After the buffet supper, the guests were presented with tickets for reserved seats at the opera, "Madame Butterfly," which was being presented at the University in honor of Governor and Mrs. Noe. After the opera, which was a great success, the class separated until the following Sunday morning when they assembled at the Mansion for the regular church school service. The Sunday school class met in the great east room of the executive mansion, having Mrs. Noe again as a member and Mr. Noe and their daughter, Gay, as visitors of the class. Miss "Rusty" Hunt had charge of a most interesting program including a talk by Mrs. Noe on "Youth, The Golden Part of Your Life," and a welcoming address by Mr. Noe. The group singing was lead by Miss Polly Cole, after which the class benediction was repeated in unison, thus ending the program for that Sabbath morning.

Immediately after the church school service, group pictures were taken by the state photographer on the lawn and steps of the executive mansion. After numberless snapshots had been taken, the class was taken through the state capitol building by a special guide and all spots of interest were pointed out and fully explained. That ended the program for the day, and after lunch, the cars were again set in motion for Monroe.

Those from Northeast Center who attended were: Howard Howell, Polly Cole, "Bid" Causey, Karl Smith, Charles Bickham Jr., Eloise Temple, Ruth Murphy, Jean Sholars, Mavis Harp, Marguerite King, and Marion Chapman.

●Purple Jacket Dance

The Purple Jacket Club sponsored an Easter Dance in the college gym April 3. The many-colored decorations, in the forms of Easter rabbits, baskets and eggs, were both attractive and amusing. Music for this occasion was furnished by Harry Sorenson and his orchestra. Those present were: Miss Maudie Gill and Mr. Allan Andrews, Miss Willine Boxley and Mr. Eugene Paxton, Miss Jonnie Myers and Mr. Jim Crow, Miss Libby Haynes and Mr. Red Blanchard, Miss Roberta Neel and Mr. Tommy Downs, Miss Virginia Buckner and Mr. Richard Pierce, Miss Jerry

Wilkes and Mr. Jack Allen, Miss Alice Daniels and Mr. Frankie Bono, Miss Corinne Fair and Mr. Joe Cooper Harrell, Miss Nan Buckner and Mr. Freneau Prophet, Miss Diana Powers and Mr. Jim Davis, Miss Evelyn Roll and Mr. Loyce Tinsley, Miss Fabol Powell and Mr. Mickey Jefferies, Miss Johnie Agnes Horton and Mr. James Hamilton, Miss Jane Gregory and Mr. T. ### ●Personals

Miss Aline Freret entertained with an all-night party at her home Saturday night. A delicious midnight feast was served to the guests, who were Misses Flora Yarbrough, Marjory and Evelyn Roll, Patsy Delorat, Dorothy and Eleanor Bennett, Virginia Buckner, Marjorie Chambers.

Miss Georgine Murphy, former student at Northeast Center, was a visitor in Monroe over the week-end.

Miss Justine Wilson, accompanied by her mother, spent the week-end in Shreveport visiting friends.

Miss Thyra Holt and Miss Nibby McKenzie enjoyed a short visit recently in Perryville.

Mr. W. R. Hammond spent the Easter vacation in Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Earl Roger sand Mr. McInichen were among the guests on the S. S. Capitol for the delightful excursion Sunday night.

Miss Carrie Jo Hill visited in her home at Columbia during the holidays.

Miss Jerry Wilkes visited Miss Alta Moorman in Shreveport last week-end.

Miss Sadie Buckner, former student of Northeast Center who is now attending L.S.U., is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis at the Lady of the Lake Sanitarium.

The Delta Beta Sigma Sorority will sponsor a backward dance Friday, May 1, at the recreation hall, from 10 til (?). Script 50c.

Mrs. Melville Hunter will entertain the girl graduates of Neville High School, Ouachita Parish High School, and Northeast Center of Louisiana State University at a garden party which will be given on the lawn of her home, the Hard Times Plantation, at four o'clock, Friday afternoon, May 8. The Monroe Chapter of the American Association of University Women will be co-hostesses for the occasion.

The members of the Girls' Athletic Association are planning a banquet to be given in the college gymnasium. At this time letters will probably be awarded to the girls who have made 500 points. The plans have not been completed, but the date is set for one night of the third week in May.

Miss Polly Cole visited in El Dorado, Ark., during the Easter holidays.

Mr. Herbert Cooper visited his family in Little Rock, Ark., during the Easter holidays.

Colvert's Corner

During this college year the faculty and student body have been host to a large number of high school students who have come here for radio broadcasts and athletic games. I appreciate very much the courtesies you have shown these high school students, and I believe that they are looking with favor on Northeast Center of the Louisiana State University as their college when they finish high school.

During the rest of this college year and this summer, each of you as students of the college will have many opportunities to boost your college and let the high school graduates of Northeast Louisiana know what the Northeast Center of Louisiana State University has to offer them.

I know you can do it, and I believe you will.

Cordially,
C. C. COLVERT, Dean.

Tie Loaders

Sleek black backs
Stripped to the waist,
Each grabs a tie
Shoulders it in haste
And trots to the car
A singing a song
That the work is easy
And they don't work long.

One made a bad hit
When he dropped his tie,
Up jumped the boss in a mad fit
Crashed his fist over the black boy's eye
Blood streamed down his chocolate face
And he said he'd see tie 'ud get in place.

Working like slaves when the whistle blew,
Each dropped his tie and away he flew
To the pay window to get his dough.

Off he hurries to the grocery store
Then home to the wife
Broke, happy in life
That he is a tie loader.

SPORTS

Boys' Football
Girls' Track

GREAT SUCCESS ENJOYED BY CENTER TEAMS

Boxing was the only sport that we entered and did not win the championship. The last track team which Malone organized was ceded the National Junior College Championship for '35, and everyone knows of his undefeated champions of the gridiron in the same year.

Although the Indian glove throwers did not capture any crowns their record is far from mediocre and well worth noticing.

The Centenary squad, that was held to a 4-4 draw in their return match with the Indians, has sent two men to the nationals. Coach Bell's gentlemen were undefeated the entire season and tied two matches, one with the Tulane Southern Conference Champions and one with Northeast Center. This places the Indian squad on a par with the Southern Conference Champions and besides Coach Bell stated that the bouts against the Northeast Center mittmen were the hardest fights his men encountered.

SOFT BALL INAUGURATED

Last Monday morning in the gym, before a called assembly of all men students, Jim Malone, athletic instructor, made known that Center will sponsor soft ball on its summer program.

Every student, with those having doctors' excuses exempted, was instructed to meet his regular gym period from now till the end of the term. Football players, boxers, and any other participants in sporting events were also included.

The announcement was met with general approval, although several wondered why their rights as free citizens were being trampled on.

There is a wealth of material on the campus and Malone should whip up a good team out of it since N.C. will have no baseball team.

Coach Malone stated that if he is unable to schedule games away from home, the different gym classes will engage in intra-mural contests.

WAR WHOOPS

As Eddie Brietz says "What's going on in sports?" And ye old editor adds—at Northeast Center. Well, I must say things are in a whirl with practically every one on the campus thinking, talking, and playing tennis and Coach Malone thinking of the possibilities in molding another mighty eleven like his undefeated one of last year. Just the other day Malone was asked what sort of football team he expected to have next year—"Better than last year's," replied the mentor.

For those who want to "do something" in gym instead of taking exercise, soft ball would seem like "Manna." But for those puny, lay-in-the-bed loafers who detest the slightest indication of physical—and maybe mental—exertion soft ball is a pest quickly to be exterminated lest they gain a few pounds or blister their lily white skins. But as somebody says, "It takes all kinds of people . . ."

To start the thing off right we would like to get a long due word in edgeways concerning Center's men behind the scene. This should have been attended to long ago but in each issue first one thing and then another bobbed up and we are only now getting to it. Certainly you are all familiar with the prowess of our athletes; you know of their ability as to punting, passing, running, blocking, their boxing, and basketball ability. But did you know that lingering in the background, going about their work with a will, are two men who contribute much to the smooth functioning of each team? Such a duo are Frank Parker and Donald McGee, Northeast Center's athletic managers. Managers as you obviously know "manage", and Parker and McGee have handled their job capably without fanfare and trumpet. So throwing jargon out the window and getting down to earth in words of one syllable, as this department flatters itself by thinking it can, we give—and trust you follow suit—fifteen big ones for managers Parker and McGee.

It may be the novelty of the thing or it may be a true love of the sport that has brought on tennis craze. However, the time is fast approaching when the tennis club will hold their elimination contests and decide who are the best and who are just second raters. Billy Regan has placed a primary bet that he will trounce Dawson Kennedy. Kennedy does not make a statement but has a determined look in his eye. Now public sentiment, in this incident the student body, is for Howard Hudson, who has won quite a bit of fame in the tennis activities of Bear Town (Bastrop), Louisiana. Wilson Abraham is fast regaining his true form.

This Senorita, now filling an engagement at Three Mile Inn, has caused quite a bit of fervor among the football boys. I know this is so, if an old experienced fellow like Cashon, commits the childish prank of scribbling her name on the walls of his room.

There is much competition between a certain tackle, from the Longhorn State and a certain well known athletic director. But from what I hear it's all (Faure).

MALONE FACES BRIGHT FUTURE

What are Malone's chances in winning the Junior College title in football next year? The Mentor will be sure to miss those two dependable backs, Lemak and Quin. A line stalwart to fill the place of "Bully" White will not be easily found. And there are other stellar performers whose names will be lacking from the roster next fall.

Still there can always be found new material in the string of freshmen that enroll in college every year. Who knows, but with a little coaching and experience a team can be organized that will work wonders on the gridiron.

However, this material may or may not be found, so let's invent—of what's in the bar. Returning at the terminals are Hendricks and Tinsley, both have proven themselves good pass-catchers.

The loss of two excellent tackles has started hard rivalry among Walker, Nolan, and Roberts. It is very likely that Arnold will be shifted to a guard position next fall and Spillar serve in the Center position. Probable backs are Cashon, who proved himself a versatile back while serving the Indians during the past season; Rawlins, who did not serve the Indians the past season, but has

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO START TUESDAY, APRIL 28, SPONSORED BY CENTER CLUB

GIRLS START VOLLEY BALL

Now that basketball season is over the girls' gym classes have begun volley ball practice. Each class has organized two teams, and competitive games are played between them. The different teams are: first period, "Red-bugs" and "Jeeps"; second period, "Alaboogies" and "Hornets"; third period, "Batty-Batters" and "Nitten-Hitters"; and fourth period, "Whoppers" and "Wahoos."

Thursday, April 16 at the regular class periods, the following results were obtained: the "Red-bugs" defeated the "Jeeps," the "Hornets" defeated the "Alaboogies," the "Batty-Batters" and the "Nitten-Hitters" tied, the "Whoppers" defeated the "Wahoos."

The girls have also been going out for track. They have practiced distance running and broad jumping for several weeks. Some of the girls show a promise of becoming real track stars. Those who won in distance running are: Berry, Honea, Givens, Holt, Fluit, C. Laird, F. Powell, Warren, Bruce, S. Alexander, Gunther. Those who won in broad jumping in the second period are Berry, Honea, and Wilder.

In a baseball game at the fourth period the "Whoppers" defeated the "Wahoos" 9 to 1.

T. HENDRICKS GREAT ASSET

Troy Hendricks has proven that good athletes are not always dumb. Hendricks holds a higher scholastic record than any athlete in school and is working hard for the two years college work he needs in order to gain a pilot's license.

As one of the terminals on the Indian squad last season Hendricks served Northeast Center valiantly. Few Center rooters will forget his play against Southwestern when the Texan received a touchdown pass for the final score of the game.

much experience and a good football record already; Mosely, the triple-threat man of last year's squad, and Mickey Jeffries.

Prizes To Be Given; Monday Last Day To Make Entries

RULES ARE ANNOUNCED; ALL TYPES OF MATCHES

A tournament sponsored by the Tennis club will be held next week on the new courts at Northeast Center. All persons desiring to participate must pay their fee to one of the members of the rules committee. The drawing of opponents will be made Monday night and brackets posted early Tuesday morning. The Tennis club's committee on rules composed of Billy Regan, Lucille Brown, and Walter S. Sava Jr., formulated the following regulation which will govern the tournament to begin Tuesday, April 28.

1. The rules will follow the U. S. L. T. A.
2. Any student of the college is eligible for competition.
3. The entrance fee will be 50 cents entrance in one event and 75 cents if entered in two events.
4. All registrations and entrance fees must be in by Monday at 3:30. Play will begin Tuesday.
5. There will be boys and girls singles and doubles.
6. Referees will be furnished for all matches.
7. All contestants will supply their own balls up to the semi-finals. Balls for semi-finals and finals will be furnished by the club.
8. Prizes will be given to the winners.

Another committee decided upon the following plan to prevent monopolization of the courts.

Should there be a large number waiting to play, one set can be played, the winner keeping the court. The person or persons waiting to play must let it be known to those on the court that they wish to play the winner. If a person is playing on one court, he cannot ask for the winner on another court unless the people waiting agree.

The student body is requested to conform to all the above regulations.

SCORES TO BE RECORDED

The results and accurate scores of all matches played in the Tennis tournament at Northeast Center next week will be kept by the sports editor of the Pow Wow.

Library Club Holds Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Library Club last Monday, the organization had as its guests the members of the Speech Club. Topics of interest to students of speech were discussed. The program was as follows: Movies versus the Theatre, Sallie Honea; Pictures of the Day that are Taken from Books, Sidney Alexander; A Review of "Ether and Me" by Will Rogers, James Newburn.

During the business part of the meeting Margaret Alexander head of the committee which had been appointed to select a picture for the library made her report. She stated that this committee had selected Monet's "Branch of the River Seine." It is hoped that the picture will arrive before the end of the school year in order that students of the Center may see it. When a reduced copy of the painting was displayed, it was generally admired and approved. Plans were made for entertaining the library clubs of Neville and Ouachita High Schools at the next meeting. A financial report of the club was also given by the treasurer.

stomach's full of butterflies." (He had just attended the big dance the night before) . . . If all of the delegates went to the fifteen cent "honkey-tonk" . . . Why he wanted to stay on Monkey Island . . . Why he won't tell anything that happened at the convention. —Dawson - If the candy shop girl was sweet and if she was a good actress . . . How he managed to get the keys to Mr. Colvert's car. . . Why he kept slipping away from the crowd . . . What time he got in when the Dean got up soon afterwards. —Nibby - If she fell for that school-girl complexion wrapped up in a uniform. (Incidentally she says that whereas there are plenty of uniforms in Louisiana, there are few school-girl complexions in them.) . . . What she and Dawson meant by watering the artificial plants in the lobby of the hotel. —Neva - Why she was so quiet coming back . . . Why she turned off the lights in the cave. —Kathleen - Why did the unknown man say "Come in," when she knocked on his door at midnight . . . What was she doing when the cop said, "Slow down or I'll give you a ticket for speeding" . . . What happened to her skirt. —One of the three men - WHO SNORES THE LOUDEST? DAWSON, BUD, OR MR. COLVERT?

Jimmy Newburn was waylaid last Sunday night in order to aid a damsel in distress with results almost fatal. They say he is walking around looking back as he fears an avenging shadow on his path.

Betty McCroquodale is in search of a solution that will exterminate the 'weasels,' who have become a constant bother the last week.

Well, school will soon be over. We only have about a month left now—that means only a couple more Pow Wows. Soon we'll be bidding farewell to old friends and—but what is this a bacca-laureate address or a so-called scandal column? But next year there'll be no more Jason & Peggy love affairs; no more will we see Eleanor pleading with Otha to take here to Three Mile Inn; no, them days will soon be gone, but a new day will arise. Many potential famous affairs are lurking in these halls. There's Virginia Buckner, Betty McCroquodale, Majorie Hahn and others who may be counted on to keep things going out here. So let's all sing "Love Will Never Die," and sit back and wait for next September. And now on with the show:

Majorie Chambers has stamped finis on the Dog incident. She's free, white and not quite twenty-one now and everything is in readiness for a rosy future with P. D.

Ulmer must have been a funny sight when he woke up Saturday morning to discover he had left his Glee Club outfit in Bea's car—or was it in Bea's car?

What's Corrine going to do this summer while Charlie is cruising through Europe on that steamer? And how's Erlene Dryer going to get along without "Poodie" when she moves to Alexandria in June?

The tale goes that Frankie Bono asked a girl to ditch her date and go home with him from the dance the other P.M. The girl relented. Later "Honest Jim" asked the same girl to go home with him. The girl consented. Because Bono was with Jim. Jim got the girl, and Bono had to choose another.

An item for the society column: James Gremillion and Louis Breard spent the week-end hitchhiking to Bay St. Louis.

Dawson heard from Winifred Stabler the other day—she's the "from Oklahoma" whom he met at the Phi Theta Kappa convention. No one was allowed even a peek at the letter. Tsk! Tsk! What must have been in it!

We thought perhaps that the students of Northeast Center would be interested in a little "real" gossip. Although most of the things that happened at the Phi Theta Kappa in Independence are too hot to print, you might ask Bud—What was the meaning of his famous crack, "Don't look now, but I think my Young, Lea?

Jason Berry still wants to know what became of Joe Robichaux and his New Orleans Rythm Boys? So do other Three Mile Inners.

A man with a razor cut Clyde Nash the other day. It was a barber trying to haggle off that blue-beard.

Frankie Bono, who won fame on the gridiron, and later again in the boxing ring has now added another feat to the list of his accomplishments. Bono is the first string catcher for the Monroe Druggists, local entry in the Ouachita Valley League. Bono, who played semi-pro baseball in Lake Charles, is one of the best batters on the team. Last Sunday, in the game against Swartz, Frank was placed in the lineup as "cleanup" man, a baseball idiom given to the most dependable batter on the team. In three times at bat, Bono got one safe hit, giving him a batting average of .333, which is 33 points above that which is considered "very good."

"Squatty" Young and Rawlings, Northeast Center boys, are also members of the Monroe team, but neither have seen action so far this year. Young has had the distinction of playing against "Schoolboy" Rowe, Detroit pitching ace.

Program Given By Delhi Hi School

A most enjoyable program was given last Tuesday by the Delhi High School. It was as follows:
Piano Solo: Narcissus, Helen Hope McKennis.
Reading: Tonsils, Carol Jean Stigall.
Vocal Sextette: It's Me O Lord, Lois Jefferies, Evelyn Dunham, Anette Naron, Evelyn Morse, Laverne Cooper, Ethylen Ainsworth.
Piano Solo: A Dark Cloud Goes Passing By, Clarence Cutler.
Piano Solo: Chopin's E Flat

Mr. Medicine Man

blazing fire is started and to the accompaniment of rattlers, they dance, waving their hands and uttering moans around the patient. The dancing proceeds until the warriors fall from exhaustion upon the ground. A general conference is held between the Medicine Man and the warriors. It is decided that the sick Indian has been placed under the spell of a witch. A haggard old squaw is believed to be the guilty one. Several warriors go to the squaw's wigwam and rudely drag her before the Medicine Man. She is immediately proclaimed a witch. With a short knife, the Medicine Man stabs the old squaw in the heart. She falls to the ground, dead. One of the warriors neatly cuts off her scalp. The sick Indian gasping loudly for breath, jumps from his cane bed and then crumbles to the floor beside the old squaw. The Medicine Man has lost his bewitched patient.

The old squaw's body is buried in a very shallow grave. A huge bonfire is burned over her grave in order to destroy her evil spirit. The remains of the Indian man are buried in a large hole where they may crumble and mould in the dust away with the bones of his ancestors.

The Medicine Man occupied a very important position among every Indian Tribe of North America. Among the Dakota Indians two classes of Medicine Men were found.

Mr. M. B. Smith Lectures Y.W.C.A.

Mr. M. B. Smith is giving a series of lectures to the Y.M.C.A. every Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. These lectures, six in all, are based on the general subject of "The Family and Its Relations to Society." Mr. Smith has already spoken on "Marriage and Divorce," and on "The Standards of Living."
Nocturne, Evelyn Lockhart.
Piano Solo: Dance of the Fairy Queen, Barbara Ann Smith.

THE THIRD STORY GOSSIPING AGAIN

Well, a few of the catty remarks that were recently so badly received by the members of the student body at whom they were aimed will have to be repeated in different words, just to teach those people to quit griping about the gossip that is so very true about them. I realize that the preceding sentence was very badly stated but I think that you get the point—P. D. McKOIN has been casting an eye towards the intelligent MARJORIE CHAMBERS and I do hope that he'll learn a few things about the art of teasing because the crude way that he hands it to WILL-INE BOXLEY is enough to make and elephant shrink . . . JIMMIE NEWBURN suggests that someone break a bottle of champagne over the head of the May queen, just a mild way of inaugurating the custom at our good institution. . . . MR. JOHNSON quotes so many flowery phrases in his Accounting classes that his students are beginning to think that he has MATRIMONY on the brain. Could his numerous trips to the bookstore have anything to do with his revised view of life???? . . . BOYD ARNOLD picks the convenient time of "after school hours" to do his courting on the tennis courts. The girl is MISS FARTHEREE . . . So it seems, my dear friends that the tennis courts will be used for more things than playing tennis. But why not???? . . . TRICHEL has finally settled down to escorting MARTHA GARRISON around the campus. . . . JASON BERRY cried when he found out that they weren't going to have a May king???? . . . MR. HAMMOND certainly must think that his classes don't have a thing to do except study his subjects. He only gives seventy pages, a test, and a twelve weeks test in the same week. . . . BUD REED brags about having a new girl and when he discloses the name, EUGENE CHAPMAN explains to the poor disillusioned fellow that he has had a picture of the same dame for two months. . . . SOMETHING for EARLENE DRYER to think about. . . . EDWIN CASHON didn't keep his date with the Three Mile Inn SENORITA last Saturday night.

MISS WOLFE AND M. HOLT BACK FROM K.C.

present. In the old country they have more heated discussions than the United States, so the Englishmen added greatly to the interest of the Society.

A banquet of the women chemists was given at the Hotel Kansas Citian in honor of Dr. H. P. Cady, head of the chemistry department of the University of Kansas. He was also the first chemistry teacher of Miss Wolfe. This banquet commemorated Mme. Marie Curie, her daughter, and her husband, M. Curie Joliot. Favours given at this banquet were in the form of booklets having a short biography of the Curie's and the Joliot's.

Dr. Cady was again honored as dean of chemistry of University of Kansas and was the principal speaker. He is noted for the discovery of helium in natural gas, and for his work on ammonia chemistry preceding the work of Edward C. Frankland. Another speaker was Dr. H. C. Johnston, chairman of the physical chemistry section.

While the banquet for the physical and inorganic chemistry was being held, at another banquet in an adjoining room so much noise was being made that when the toastmaster for the A.C.S. rose to speak, he made an announcement that too much C2D5OD was flowing in the next room.

There wasn't any particular reason why he shouldn't have expected that he might not have remembered it, but why???? . . . I wish STELLA MAY could have seen the "You're All I Need" look that BOB JOHNSON was bestowing upon the fair WINIFRED MARONEY. How serious was he? Just as serious as he always is, I guess . . . JIM MALONE made a very lengthy speech at the dance Friday night and wasn't the least bit embarrassed. What could have been responsible for the carefree manner of our coach???? . . . I guess that I'd better stop. Much more of this and I won't be present for the next issue of the Pow Wow SENORITA last Saturday night. . . . I will be, don't bother!
