SGA moves to reveal results of roll call votes on funding

A new motion passed by the Student Government Association (SGA) Tuesday night entitles students to know how their student representatives vote on financial bills.

The motion made by Liberal Arts Senator Jim Carr and seconded by Gary Hemphill, business senator, said a roll call vote is to be taken on any financial bill dealing with funds not already allocated in the SGA budget. The results are to be recorded in the minutes of the meeting during which the vote was made.

Carr stated that he feels, "We owe it to the students," while another student present called it a "waste of time." The motion passed with all senators present voting in favor of the motion.

In the Student Rights Committee report, it was noted that the committee is presently trying to contact Monroe area attorneys who would be interested in devoting time to the University by conferring with students having legal problems.

In other business, it was announced that seats are still vacant for the summer senate and applications are being taken at the SGA office, SUB 212.

Coin toss decides frats' future homes

Facing possible eviction due to the tentative location of the new swimming pool, two Northeast social fraternities tossed a coin recently to determine which would get first chance at a house available at the end of the month.

Asserting that nothing is yet certain, Alton R. Taylor, vice-president of Student Affairs, said demolition of the present TKE and KA fraternity houses is a possibility, depending upon the architect's plans. If their destruction is avoidable, he continued, the area behind Olin Hall would be congested by the Olympic-sized pool and accompanying filtration plant, dressing rooms and storage area.

KA was the loser in the June 12 toss by Mrs. Anna V. McGowen, Taylor's secretary. "We knew the fraternities must make plans for rush," Taylor said, "and we wanted to give both of them an opportunity for relocation in a house we knew would soon be vacated." Dean of Men Thomas Murphy, Interfraternity Council advisor Jim Haddox and two representatives of each fraternity met with Taylor, with KA calling the unlucky tails.

Enrollment told

A total of 4,324 students are attending classes at Northeast Louisiana University this summer, according to Dr. George T. Walker, NLU president. The first summer term enrollment is an increase over last summer's 4,279 students.

By classification, the figures show a freshman class of 941, a sophomore class of 645, a junior class of 640, a senior class of 1,246, and 852 graduate students.

There are 2,467 women students and 1,857 men students registered this summer.

Registration for the second summer term will be Thursday, July 11.

State awards education grant

A grant for an Adult Education Institute to be conducted at the University during the second six weeks of the current session of summer school has been received.

According to Dr. Bernard Shadoin, dean of the College of Education, the grant was given by the Louisiana Department of Education.

Mrs. Ruby Ball, associate professor of elementary education, will serve as director of the institute. Dr. Catherine Vaughan, head of the Department of Elementary and Early Childhood Education, will assist in the preparation of teaching material and learning packets. Consultants will be utilized in specialized areas.

Mrs. Ball, a member of the Adult Education Staff Development Coordinating Council of Louisiana, said, "The purpose of the project is to offer an Adult Education Institute designed to help pre-service and in-service teachers of adult education acquire needed competencies and abilities for planning and implementing effective reading programs for those adults who cannot meet the minimal demands of the world of work."

She added that the need for trained teachers of adult education in the state is illustrated by the fact that approximately 20 per cent of the northeast Louisiana population over 25 years of age have attained an educational level of less than five years.

Enrollment in the course is limited to 30 with registration scheduled for July 11. Participants will receive six hours credit for the course, which will meet from 9 to 12:15 each morning.

Tuition for persons accepted for enrollment will be paid by the grant.

Test deadline today

Today is the last day to register for the July 20 College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests, according to Jack E. Kimball, director of the Office of Testing and Guidance.

CLEP plans to mail the July 20 test scores by August 26. Students who take the tests should receive their grades before fall registration closes, Kimball said.

Over two dozen CLEP subject examinations have been approved for credit at the University. Each university participating in the CLEP program determines which examinations it will accept for credit and the amount of credit it will award. A CLEP Registration Guide, which includes a list of CLEP Subject Examinations acceptable for credit at the University, is available from Testing and Guidance, Adm. 1-55.

Two chemistry profs to study enzymes

Two chemistry professors have been awarded a two year $35,000 grant to do research on purification of the enzymes cocainesterase and atropinesterase.

Dr. Sally E. Cauthen, associate professor of chemistry, and Dr. Morgan R. Kidd, assistant professor of chemistry, have been awarded the grant by the National Institutes of Health.

Dr. Cauthen has been named principal investigator for the project.

Dr. Cauthen and Dr. Kidd will attempt to purify these two enzymes that are found in rabbit serum in order to describe their characteristics and possibly make them available in treatment of drug abuse.

The grant will support Dr. Cauthen, Dr. Kidd and two graduate assistants in carrying out full time research this summer and next summer as well. Graduate assistants who will assist in the project this summer are Wendell Plain, a chemistry graduate student from Rayville, and Hugh Varner, a chemistry graduate student from Laurel, Miss.

Dr. Cauthen, a member of the faculty since 1962, received her bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian, a master of science degree from LSU and her Ph.D. from Oxford University. Dr. Kidd joined the faculty in 1968. He received a B.S. degree in chemistry from the University of Texas and a Ph.D. degree in chemistry from Texas Christian University.

Do you know how your senator votes?

The Student Government Association made a step in the right direction Tuesday night when it decided it was time to let the students they represent in on how they vote to spend student money.

According to the motion, the results of the roll call votes on bills dealing with funds not already allocated in the SGA budget will be recorded in the minutes of the meeting during which the vote was made. These records will be made available to the student body as well as to the Pow Wow.

Since the SGA has been spending considerably large amounts (i.e. intramurals $8,000; United Givers Fund $500) it is a good idea for students to know exactly who was instrumental in spending what money. Also, previous senates seem to have had some members who consistently abstained from voting. What useful purpose do these senators serve? Are they so wishy-washy they have no opinion? Now students can see just how active their representatives are.

It was brought out at the meeting that this will take extra time during the meetings. Bravo! It's time more consideration and time be given to money-spending.

The most amazing thing is all senators present supported the motion unanimously. This seems to be an indication that the summer session senators really care.

Letter to the editor

policy on letters

Letters to the editor must be limited to 300 words, typed (double spaced) and on the editor's desk (SUB, Rm. 211) by 4 p.m. Tuesday. No letter will be printed unless it is signed by the writer. We further ask that the writer include his address and phone number for our convenience.

No letters of endorsement for political candidates will be published. Once submitted, letters become the property of the Pow Wow and will not be returned.

Spelling errors will be corrected but grammatical and punctuation errors will be printed as received.

Help offered

Dear Editor,

We read with interest the editorial in last week's edition of the POW WOW. It is really a shame that a university the size of NLU has so few programs to aid its handicapped students. TKE fraternity would like to help change this situation.

For the remainder of the summer the members of TKE will be available each day to assist any handicapped person in getting to and from class, carrying books, or giving physical assistance if needed. We urge any student desiring assistance to call me or any member of TKE. We also invite all other students who would like to assist TKE in carrying out this program to get in touch with us.

It is hoped that these efforts will be only the beginning of a greater concern for NLU's handicapped students.

Sincerely,
Randy Jordan
and the Brothers of TKE

Lines discussed

Dear Editor,

We would like to voice our dissatisfaction with the current situation occurring in Schulz Dining Hall.

Although we recognize the usefulness of these high school workshop sessions, it is not fair to the college students. The lines at the cafeteria are ridiculous. It is almost impossible to eat in the cafeteria during the lunch hour, especially if you have a class scheduled both at 11:00 and at 12:30, because from 10:30 until 12:45 the lines extend all the way to the doors.

Some possible solutions which we venture to offer are:

1. Open another cafeteria during these sessions.
 2. Arrange their schedules so we can eat and still attend our classes.
 3. Possibly require that the visitors eat only on one side of the cafeteria and be served in that serving line only.
- If these sessions are to continue we certainly hope that something is done about this situation.

Thank you.

After a wait of approximately three months, Campus Security officers can be seen riding around in a Cushman Scooter, which is being used as a daily mobile patrol on campus.
The scooter was purchased from a Shreveport dealer at a cost of $2,000, according to Wade N. Dupuis, director of security and safety.
Dupuis said advantages of the Dancers visit campus

The campus has been enlivened this past week by the visit of over 200 junior high and high school girls from across the state for a dance and drill team camp sponsored by the School of Music.

A competition at noon today will culminate the week-long event for the youths, who met in morning, afternoon and evening sessions under the direction of Warbonnet advisor Ann Teekell and several Warbonnet assistants. Representing 15 schools, the girls were required to learn four dances, one pom-pom routine and one marching routine, Ms. Teekell said.

A lunch honoring captains and co-captains on Wednesday, recognition of the outstanding sponsor at a Thursday luncheon, a party Thursday night recognizing the camp's outstanding dancer and a fashion show were among entertainment provided for the guests, who also participated in campus activities.

Campus Security hopes to acquire more scooters in the future if the one just purchased meets the needs of the University, according to Dupuis.

Publication students conclude workshop

Following an awards assembly this morning, 270 students and advisors will conclude a week-long publications workshop which was highlighted by a watermelon party on the bayou.

According to Bob Carroll, News Bureau director, the workshop was divided into yearbook, photography and newspaper sessions.

Yearbook design techniques were covered in the afternoon lab sessions, which were conducted by members of Taylor's Louisiana Division staff.

The photography session has been held for publication photographers with emphasis on the techniques necessary in composing and producing quality pictures for publications, according to Carroll.

Students attending the newspaper session gained knowledge of techniques in organizing a newspaper staff, gathering and reporting news, selling advertising and writing headlines. In addition, they have received instruction in page design and selection and editing of news photographs.

Members of the University's journalism faculty and publications staff conducted classes for the newspaper session.

Netters advance to NCAA finals

Four Indian tennis players are currently representing the University in the NCAA Division I tennis tournament in Los Angeles, Calif.

The competition this week is the first NCAA experience for the Indians in the Division I bracket in the school's history, and the final results will appear in next Friday's Pow Wow.

The four are junior Terry Moor of Winnetka, Ill., senior Phil Trahan of Crowley, senior David Methvin of Jackson, Miss., and junior Mark Sanders of Dallas. They are accompanied by Dr. Del Vines, dean of the College of Business Administration.

Moor ranks as one of the South's top players after winning 24 and losing only three singles matches this spring and compiling a 49-4 record for the past two seasons. He defeated four of the top 32 players in last year's NCAA tournament this spring—Mike Cahill of Alabama, John Burmann of Trinity, Dale Ogden of Houston and Rejean Genois of Florida State.

Moor enters the California matches with a singles win in the Alabama State Open Tennis Tournament last Saturday in Mobile. He overcame a sloppy second set to once again defeat top-seeded Mike Cahill of the University of Alabama by a score of 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

Trahan, the Indian's number two netter, has a 22-6 record. Sanders played No. 4 and was 16-10 and Methvin played No. 5 and was 18-20. The Indian's No. 3 player, Wilson Campbell, is not eligible to compete in this year's NCAA meet because of the transfer rule.

All teams are restricted to only four entries. Play began Monday and will end today in the 90th annual NCAA championships at Southern Cal's David X. Marks Stadium.

The four players will compete in the singles division and in the doubles with Moor pairing with Trahan and Methvin with Sanders. Moor and Trahan have a 1974 record of 24-3 in doubles. Sanders and Methvin have played only one doubles match together this year and won it.

The Indian's last team match was April 21, when they defeated Alabama, 5-4. Moor has played in several summer tournaments since then, the most recent being last Saturday's win in Alabama.

"The long layoff will definitely hurt," said Vines. "Terry is the only one of the four who is playing as well now as he was at the end of the college season."

Vines added, "This is the biggest tournament NLU has ever participated in and that's enough to make you a little apprehensive."

The NCAA meet will be only the second national tournament Northeast has participated in. In 1964, a two-man Indian team entered the NAIA tournament and tied for 18th place.

Stanford is the defending champion and favorite, despite losing its No. 1 player, Alex Mayer. Mayer, the 1973 NCAA individual champion, quit school near the end of the season but Stanford still won the Pacific Eight Conference title.
