Call for Reviewers

The Journal of Interprofessional Practice and Collaboration (JIPC) is seeking knowledgeable and conscientious peer reviewers who will provide fair and objective manuscript reviews with quick turnaround time for feedback to authors. The role of these individuals is to independently review and critique manuscripts using the JIPC peer review system.

On the application, The “research interests/Field(s) of Expertise” section is important as it will help us select manuscripts that best fit with our reviewers. Once we receive and review your information, we will contact you with any questions or decisions.
